The Billion-Dollar Age
Dollars Lost, Dollars Cheap
Reed and Smith? No
Courageous Japan

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

GENERAL MOTORS sends its common stock holders a pleasing circular that we have reached the billion dollar age. The company sold 1,215,826 worth of automobiles in 1926, an increase of $323,000,000, and its common stock holders in dividends for 1926 got 93% That breaks all records for common stock dividends anywhere in the world. It's more than 5 times two billions.

• • •

This year General Motors sold more of every car it makes than it ever sold before, total sales for the year being 1,215,826, an increase of eight per cent.

That "saturation point" in automobile buying seems to be postponed.

MORE bad news from China. The Chinese might call it good news. It means driving out foreigners. Women and children have been hurried from Nanking to Shanghai, where European nations have strong forces.

• • •

THE Chinese news is bad for many financiers and investors. Americans, British and Germans—British especially—will lose enormous sums if the Chinese wipe out "concessions" that have made Europeans rich.

Whether China also will suffer for lack of European capital and European science remains to be seen. The Chinese think not.

• • •

THERE is some comfort, not much, for those that lose dollars in China or elsewhere. A dollar is worth today 40 cents as compared with its value before the war; "worth" meaning purchasing power.

• • •

WAGES are up 116 per cent. which is most desirable even for big men, although they don't all know it. The more the little man earns the more the big men can get.

It would enlighten some "best financial minds" if they could learn from Java, whence Earl D. Babst, president of the American Sugar Refining Co., has just returned. He will tell them that the Javanese, when they are well paid, get 4 cents an hour.

You couldn't become a billionaire in Java because the forty million Javanese don't earn enough to make anybody rich.

• • •

DEMOCRATS suggest for 1928 Senator Reed of Missouri for president and Governor Smith of New York for vice president.

It would be a strong combination, but wouldn't suit Governor Smith. He wants to know whether a man's religion can prevent his being nominated for president.

• • •

If he compromised on the vice presidency he wouldn't get an answer to that question.

• • •

ANOTHER earthquake in central Japan, with loss of life and property in Tokio, Kobe and Osaka. The Japanese will rise above this disaster, as they have done on other occasions, and will have the sympathy of every country. The only thing really dangerous to a nation is lack of courage.

RELIGIOUS influence, thoroughly absorbed in childhood, never leaves the mind. Aloysius Joseph, taxicab driver, shot his wife yesterday morning—jealousy the cause. She had left him. He immediately ran for a priest to administer the last sacrament to his wife. Then, saying to the priest, "Father forgive me," he shot and killed himself after the priest told him his wife was dead and he could do nothing for her.

OF the four United States airplanes that started to fly around South America and create "good will," only one remains in the air. The third fell into the sea yesterday as it was leaving Montevideo. Nobody hurt. It may be able to start again.

IT is extraordinary that German, Russian and Italian flying machines should be covering their long regular passenger routes day after day, month after month, without accident, while the country that invented the flying machine seems to specialize in flying accidents. We have the pilots.

How do you explain it?

Louis Mazer's Confession Revealed

ASSASSINATION OF PUBLISHER IS RECOUNTED

Four More Canton Policemen Involved by Information Given Jury

SLATER CHECKING UP

Streitenberger Invited Vice King "In"; Rudner Found Men for Job

Canton, Mar. 8—As a result of information given the Stark County Grand Jury today by Louis Mazer Canton, one of the alleged conspirators in the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, July 16, 1926, Ora Slater, famous Cincinnati detective, has started a check-up to determine how many members of the Canton police force, at the time of the killing, were really involved in the plot.

In addition to Floyd Streitenberger, four other police officers were mentioned in the Mazer confession, all said to be of higher rank that the detective sergeant. Streitenberger is now awaiting trial on a charge of first degree murder for his alleged participation in the assassination.

The first complete story describing the assassination of Mellett was given to the grand jury today, and made public for the first time.

The Canton Daily News is in possession of the full statement, given Prosecutor Henry Harter, Jr., by Louis Mazer, one of the alleged conspirators in the plot to murder Mellett.

Mazer's story of the murder, according to the News, is as follows:

Several weeks before the killing, Floyd Streitenberger, detective sergeant on the Canton police force at the time, came to Mazer and told him of plans to "beat up" Mellett. The publisher had been running a series of editorials, charging an "unholy alliance" existed between the police department and Canton bootleggers.

Mazer Invited "In"

Streitenberger suggested that Mazer join the plot, since he, (Mazer) reputed "bootlegger and underworld character," had been mentioned in the editorials.

Mazer was reluctant to do so.

Two weeks before the murder, Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware merchant, convicted of complicity in the crime and now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary, told Mazer:

"I have some friends coming here who will do that Mellet job for us."

After the arrival of Patrick Eugene McDermott, of Nanty Glo, Pa., convicted gunman in the slaying, Rudner suggested to Mazer that Pat might need a gun, Mazer gave him a .38 calibre pistol.

Needn't Fear Police

July 15, the night preceding the murder, Streitenberger came to Mazer and suggested that "Louie" go with him to the Mellett home. Mazer was hesitant but the detective finally persuaded him to go, assuring him: 'The police are all right. They won't bother us."

They left in Mazer's automobile and picked up McDermott.

Recalls Paying McDermott

The latter was posted in the weeds, across from the rear of the Mellett home. Mazer and Streitenberger drove around town for about two hours and picked McDermott up near the scene of the murder, later.

Upon entering the car, Pat exclaimed: "I've put that guy where he will hear the angels.""

During the trip downtown, Streitenberger said to Mazer: "I could kiss that kid for what he has done tonight."

The morning following the murder, Mazer met Rudner in Canton and they had breakfast together. Rudner said: "We've got to pay this fellow." Mazer drew $200 from his account in a Canton bank and gave it to McDermott that morning.

Adds to Story

This version of the killing, as related by Mazer, conflicts with the testimony of firearms experts who testified at the Rudner and McDermott trials that the fusillade of shots fired at Mellett came from at least two different guns. Mrs. Florence Mellett, widow of the slain publisher, said the flashes appeared to come from three pistols.

Faced with the possibility of losing immunity from prosecution, because he had not told the entire truth, Mazer added materially to his story when he appeared before the grand jury it was learned this afternoon.

Continues Trial

Judge A. W. Alger granted a continuance of Mazers' trial until the May term of court. The case had been set originally for Mar. 16 Streitenberger probably will be tried before Mazer.

Streitenberger was not the arch-conspirator in the plot, according to Mazer's story this afternoon, but a willing tool of superior officers in the police department.

Mazer had promised County Prosecutor Harter that he would repeat his story to the grand jury with an added facts that might occur to him in the re-telling.

Makes Last Run

J. E. Carver, above, veteran railroad engineer of the New York Central, has made his last run between Cleveland and Toledo, O., over the route on which, 11 years ago, he established a record, running a special train the 101 miles in 80 minutes. His cab was filled with roses for his final trip. Carver began as a water boy at 13 and served 43 years as an engineer. On his record trip he carried a Cleveland physician to Toledo for an important operation.

J. F. PRENDERGAST HOST TO RAILWAY OFFICIALS

Entertains Men Enroute to Chicago Convention at Marion Club

J. F. Prendergast, president of the Prendergast Lumber Co., was host at a six-o'clock dinner given at the Marion Club last night for a company of guests which included 11 railway officials enroute to the annual convention of the American Railway Engineer's Association in Chicago.

The dinner was planned by Mr. Prendergast in accordance with his custom of entertaining the railway representatives annually. After an informal social program which followed last night's event the visitors left for Chicago to be present at today's convention session.

The dinner guests were R. S. Parsons, New York City, chief engineer of the Erie; Harold Knight, Youngstown, regional engineer of the Erie; William Michel, Columbus, chief engineer of the Hocking Valley; C. M. McVay, Charleston, W. Va., division engineer of the K & M; J. A. Stocker, Columbus, chief engineer of the T & O C; Thomas Hayes, division superintendent of the Big Four; L. B. Elliott, Springfield, division engineer of the Big Four; J. E. Kissell, Galion, division engineer of the Big Four; H. R. Adams, Marion, division superintendent of the Erie; C. K. Scott, Marion division engineer of the Erie; M. Wolverton, Mt. Vernon; J. R. Dickson, Youngstown, and Ralph Young, T. R. Allen, O. S. Rapp and James R. Smith, Marion.

INTIMATES BREAK

Anglo-Russian Relations "Very Bad," Chamberlain Says

Geneva, Mar. 8—Intimation that Great Britain contemplates breaking diplomatic relations with Russia was given today by Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister of Great Britain, in an interview with correspondents here for the League of Nations Council meeting.

Sir Austen described Anglo-Russian relations as "very bad" and said that Great Britain had refrained from breaking relations only because she did not want to disturb other nations.

NEW RADIO DIVISION IN DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Washington, Mar. 8—Creation of a new radio division in the department of commerce, headed by William D. Terrell, was announced today by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, under the new radio regulatory law passed by the last congress.

Terrell has been the radio expert of the department for some months.

DRYS STRIVING TO CIRCUMVENT COURT DECISION

Steps Likely to Be Taken in Ohio Legislature to Offset Results

FEE SYSTEM CONDEMNED

Johnson and Bender Hail With Glee Ruling of United States Supreme Court

Columbus, Mar. 8—With legal authorities of the state informally agreed that the sweeping decision handed down by the United States Supreme Court invalidates the legality of both justice of the peace and village mayor's courts which depend upon fees to recompense the judges, plans were being made by the prohibition lobby today to take steps during the present session of the Ohio Legislature to offset the effects of the decision.

While state legal and prohibition authorities were unwilling definitely to commit themselves until the full text of the supreme court decision has been received and examined, it was generally agreed that a far-reaching effect was a certain result, and that the present system of state prohibition law enforcement in Ohio would have to be largely revamped to meet legal conditions resulting from the supreme court's ruling.

"Fee" System Condemned

It was pointed out that while justice courts were not involved in the particular case ruled upon by the supreme court, informal news stories of the action of the court contained references to a general condemnation by the nation's highest tribunal of the "fee" system of recompensing judicial officers for hearing cases in which they thus had a direct financial interest; and state officials were of the opinion that this general pronouncement would be taken into consideration by other courts in passing upon a possible future legal battle in another case in which a justice court was involved.

Senators Nils P. Johnson of Mahoning County and George H. Bender of Cleveland hailed the decision with glee, as having accomplished the object they have battled unsuccessfully to attain in the present session of the legislature. They sponsored bills designed to limit

DOUBT CONGRESS' POWER TO REGULATE PRIMARIES

Supreme Court Avoided Direct Expression, Say Constitutional Authorities

Washington, Mar. 8—The power of congress to regulate senatorial primaries remained in doubt today despite the supreme court's action in holding unconstitutional the Texas law denying negroes the right to participate in Democratic primaries there.

This was the consensus among constitutional authorities in the senate after a study of the court's decision. They declared the court had avoided a direct expression on the power of congress to lay down rules for the conduct of primaries, thus throwing the question back into the field of political discussion. At some time in the future, they said, the issue probably will be decided directly but only after congress has enacted a new law attempting to control the primaries.

"The decision fails to state whether congress has the power or lacks the power to legislate on primaries," observed Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, one of the senate's best-known constitutional authorities. "It simply forbids the states from making any discriminatory election laws."

A similar opinion was held by Senator David A. Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, who has frequently maintained that congress had no power to regulate primaries.

PHYSICIAN ARRESTED

Toledo, Mar. 8—Dr. J. W. Baldwin, prominent Ohio physician, well-known in Detroit, was arrested here today by federal authorities on a charge of violating the Harrison Narcotic Law.

TWO KILLED, 13 HURT IN ROOMING HOUSE FIRE

Building Adjoining Hartman Hotel, Columbus, Is Swept by Flames

Columbus, Mar. 8—Two persons were killed here early today in a fire, believed of incendiary origin, which swept an old dwelling, used as a rooming house, adjoining the old Hartman Hotel Building, in the downtown district.

The dead are Addison Vance, 30, and his mother, Mrs. Carrie Vance Summers, 50, both of Columbus. They were suffocated as they sought to escape from the fourth floor. Firemen rescued their bodies. Thirteen other persons were slightly injured.

Fire Chief Nice expressed the opinion that a pyromaniac had started the fire.

The Hartman Hotel is used by the State of Ohio as a temporary state office structure, and contains many state records, which were not damaged.

The fact that five false alarms have been sounded from the Hartman Hotel building fire during the past few days was believed by the fire chief, he said, to have some connection with the fire, and to substantiate his theory that the blaze may have been set by an incendiary. On several occasions smoke was found by firemen answering the false alarms, issuing from the vicinity of the old structure, but no fire was found.

BANK LOOTED

$50,000 Taken From Como, Miss., Vault By Yeggs

Como, Miss., Mar. 8—The Planters Bank & Trust Co. of Como was looted of approximately $50,000 during the night by yeggmen who drilled through the door of the vault.

The robbery was discovered when officials opened the bank this morning. The robbers are believed to have fled toward Memphis.

PURPLE STREAK BANDIT ESCAPES NET OF POLICE

Toledo, Mar. 8—The "purple streak" bandit who has been terrorizing northwestern Ohio towns escaped a police net in Toledo early today and fled toward Cleveland. He is believed to have been the perpetrator of a $5,000 jewel robbery at Bryan, Ohio, yesterday.

DRIVES THROUGH WINDOW

Cincinnati, Mar. 8—Marion Oberling, 23, was to face a charge of driving while intoxicated in court here today. Police said he drove his automobile through a large plate glass window, routed a telephone booth, and smashed a showcase, in a drug store here Monday night.

MILLER FINED $5,000, GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

Court Overrules Motion for New Trial and Deferring of Sentence

APPPEAL WILL BE MADE

Attorney Asks for Mercy; Charged with Defrauding Government

New York, Mar. 8—Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian during the Harding Administration, today was sentenced to 18 months in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $5,000.

Miller was convicted last Friday by a jury of conspiring to deprive the government of his honest services through the approval of a $7,000,000 claim for war seized German property. He was a co-defendant with Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general. The jury disagreed regarding Daugherty but found Miller guilty. The case against Daugherty was dismissed. The two former government officials were accused of having shared in a $391,000 "fee" paid by the foreign interests to obtain approval of the claim.

Miller, who has been free on $5,000 bail, was allowed to remain at liberty under bond, until appeal papers in his case are ready.

A pathetic scene was enacted in the courtroom as Miller was being sentenced. A motion for a new trial and a motion for deferred judgment were both denied by Federal Judge John C. Knox after an emotional appeal by Aaron Sapiro, an attorney of Chicago and San Francisco.

Appeals for Mercy

Judge Knox regarded Miller who was sitting quietly with his wife, sympathetically, and said:

"If it was within my power I would avoid this difficult and painful task."

Sapiro had in his plea for mercy for Miller stated that Miller "had taken the trial like a soldier, taken his conviction like a soldier and would now take his sentence like a soldier."

"The iron has entered his soul," said Sapiro.

Judge Knox called Miller before him. Mrs. Miller's eyes filled with tears and she bit her lips to control her emotions.

With a soldierly bearing Miller walked to the bar of justice. His face was expressionless as the judge pronounced the sentence.

GOING WEST

Coolidge Indicates Preference for Establishment of Summer White House

Washington, Mar. 8—President Coolidge expects to establish the summer White House "in the west" this year—the term embracing all the territory between Michigan and Utah, it was announced at the White House today.

The president informed callers no selection of a site had yet been made, that numerous places are now being considered, and that final selection would fall upon the place that offered the best advantages in elevation and coolness.

KIDNAPS LITTLE SISTER TO TAKE HER TO MOVIE

Cleveland, Mar. 8—Love for his sister, Florence, 4, caused Tony Conca, 10, to become a "kidnaper."

When the little girl's godmother, with whom she had been living, refused Tony permission to take his sister to a show, Tony took her regardless, and later turned her over to a "mystery woman," who turned out to be an older sister, Anna.

The "mystery" which had police and detectives "groggy" for a time, was completely cleared up today, after Louise, another sister, discovered the whereabouts of the child and brought her home.

COMMISSION MAN DIES

Cincinnati, Mar. 8—Funeral services for Henry Weil, senior member of a widely-established commission house business, who died here late yesterday, were to be announced today. He is survived by three brothers, one living in Cincinnati, and Samuel Weil, Chicago, and C. M. Weil, of New York.

Property Damage Enormous; Whole Towns Destroyed

Thousands of Persons Injured as Whole of Western Japan Is Stricken; One American Woman Tourist Killed in Race for Steamer

MINEYAMA APPEARS GREATEST SUFFERER

Suffering Rampant in Devastated Areas; Survivors May Die of Exposure to Frigid Blasts of Winter Winds; Traffic Communications Unrestored

TOKIO, Mar. 8—The death toll of the earthquake which rocked western Japan yesterday continued to mount today.

At least 2,000 persons have perished, according to the vernacular press.

Thousands of others have been injured.

Property damage is enormous. Entire villages and towns have been destroyed. Virtually every population center in the province of Tango has been wrecked.

One American woman was killed when she was pushed into the bay at Kobe and drowned. This occurred when tourists of the steamer, California, attempted to get on the boat at Kobe.

Mineyama Suffers Most

Five of the crew of the California were also injured.

The town of Mineyama appeared to be the greatest sufferer. There, it was reported, 1,000 persons were killed when the quake struck. Several thousand were injured, also.

Streets of the town are reported strewn with the dead, while terrified refugees fled the city for Miyazu.

Kyoto prefecture also suffered heavily, both in lives lost and property damage. The town of Ishikawa suffered the greatest loss. Ichiba and Yamada were also badly shaken. Many casualties occurred in all of these towns, but an accurate check of the dead and injured has not yet been made.

The Kyoto Prefectural police headquarters announced late tonight that 1,600 persons had been killed in that prefecture alone.

The number of injured had not been checked, the announcement said.

A total of 4,548 houses collapsed or burned in this prefecture, the report stated.

The Kyoto Prefecture was hardest hit by the tremblor.

Suffering is rampant in the stricken areas.

Their homes destroyed, thousands of survivors are suffering from the frigid blasts of winter winds.

Aid Being Rushed

Aid is being rushed to them from all points in Japan, but it is feared that many may die of exposure before help reaches them.

Destroyers, carrying supplies and workers, have been sent to points along the coast. Other supplies are being rushed in over overland routes. Two brigades of soldiers have also been rushed to the stricken area.

Mrs. Glen Schultze of New York was killed when surging crowds on the pier at Kobe attempted to board the steamer, California, it was officially confirmed today. Mrs. Schultze was thrown into the water and drowned, the reports said. She was one of the many American tourists who were cruising in Japanese waters aboard the California.

Five members of the crew of the California also were injured as the vessel prepared to clear from Kobe. The injured are: Thomas Ryan, stoker; Miss Mary McGovern, laundress; George Prentice, steward; and two seamen, Archibald and McArthur.

With rail communication still unrestored, an accurate check of casualties still is impossible, but it is believed the number is likely to increase.

PITIFUL TALES OF SUFFERING JAPAN

Tokio, Mar. 8—Pitiful tales of the suffering of survivors in the latest earthquake to visit Japan were filtering in from the stricken areas today.

In the Sanin district, where the tremblor was particularly severe, the refugees, homeless, were compelled to take advantage of makeshift shelters. Suffering was acute, as the district is snow-bound. Many of them were forced to tramp in the snow without any shoes. Hardly any of them had sufficient clothes to protect them from the wintry blasts that swept the district.

In many of the villages, reports said, the dead and injured lay in the streets, half buried in snow and debris.

Because of the isolation, immediate relief cannot be given, and it is believed that many of the refugees may die of exposure before help can reach them.

The government departments are hastily organizing relief parties. Army airplanes have been sent to scout the stricken districts and two brigades of troops have been dispatched from Fukuchiyama.

FRENZIED CHINESE MOB RAIDS BRITISH HOSPITAL

Americans Among Nurses and Missionaries Invaders Attempt To Carry Off

Shanghai, Mar. 8—A frenzied Chinese mob, assisted by Cantonese soldiers, today invaded the British Church Hospital at Ningpo and attempted to carry off the missionaries and nurses, among whom were several Americans.

The nurses and missionaries eventually reached the waterfront and escaped, but only after they had been subject to the most vile insults.

Severe anti-British agitation continues at Ningpo and in all the towns along the upper Yangtse River.

All the battle fronts were quiet today. It is reported from Anhui that Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, war lord of the north, has made overtures to the Cantonese looking to a suspension of hostilities.

The Nationalists are marking time along the battle fronts while their agents are stirring up trouble behind the northerners' lines. They succeeded in causing a thousand railroad employes along the Nanking line and in the Woosung and Shanghai work shops to strike in an attempt to cripple transportation facilities for the Shantung forces.

FIRST DONAHEY VETO OF SESSION DUE TODAY

Governor Against Municipality Conference Dues Measure, Office Announces

Columbus, Mar. 8—Governor Vic Donahey today will register his first veto of the present session of the Ohio legislature, it was announced at the governor's office early this afternoon.

Because the governor believes the measure "provides for a lobbying outfit at the expense of the public," officials in the governor's office stated that Donahey will veto the bill, introduced by Sen. Roy J. Gillen, Wellston, authorizing municipalities to make appropriations for dues for membership in the Conference of Ohio Municipalities.

The governor, it was announced, will attach his approving signature today to the Alger-Dail Bill which recodifies Ohio's statutes dealing with the organization, conduct and dissolution of private corporations.

THREE-POWER PACT

Naval Limitation Is Subject of "Informal Inquiries"

Washington, Mar. 8—The American government has been conducting "informal inquiries" with Great Britain and Japan relative to the possibility of a three-power agreement limiting certain classes of naval ships, it was announced at the White House today.

The tentative responses to these inquiries have been such, President Coolidge informed inquirers today, as to lead to some hope of success at Geneva next June.

MILLIONAIRE GROCER IS DEAD AT HOME IN TOLEDO

Toledo, Mar. 8—Rudolph A. Bartley, 73, millionaire Toledo wholesale grocer, died at his home here today after two weeks illness. Bright's disease was ascribed as the cause of death.

At the age of 21, Bartley started in the grocery business with a capital of $100, and today he leaves an estate of $5,000,000 and the reputation of being the most widely-known wholesale grocer in northwestern Ohio and southern Michigan.

Don't Be in Hurry—There Are 300,000,000 Years Left Before Last Man Will Scramble Down to Equator and Shiver Over Tiny Campfire

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8—Three hundred million years—that's the minimum future life of old man world, before he passes into frozen, lunar-like senility.

Maybe there's a couple of billion years left, but anyway the time is sufficient to complete all present senatorial investigations and to give modern youth the opportunity to find the "major thrill."

Major William Bowie, government geogolist, today made a diagnosis of the "state of the world." Its health was pronounced normal.

The scientist went back into the remote by-ways, down the "corridors of time" before rain fell, and traced the story to the misty sunset of humanity, when the last man, shivering over a tiny fire on the equator, will await the end of terrestial life.

Through this prodigious expanse of eternity, in which one human life is comparable as [illegible] a frosty [illegible] was produced [illegible] world.

[illegible] tains, the dales, a hieroglyphic picture from which science interprets the past and foretells the future.

Bowie based his speculations of future existence on the hypothesis that the world is cooling off. The first life on earth was estimated to have originated in terms of a billion and a half years ago, at which time life probably began to die.

Then started the eternity long procession of fundamental [illegible] life on this human being, a process [illegible] more than a million years, as time is reckoned.

"It is easy to believe that man has been on earth [illegible] years or longer," Bowie said.

[illegible] temperatures on the earth gradually will [illegible] below the freezing point, or about 32 degrees centigrade a couple of billions years ago. If that assumption is true, according to Bowie, the temperature has dropped to the present average of from 5 to 10 degrees in the countless ages since the dawn.

Millions of years will come and go, before all the earth has a temperature of below the freezing point and until then life may exist in some form or other.

Whether one gigantic tragedy in the world will wipe out mankind, or whether one by one men gradually will be driven to the equator and death by cold by the ever expanding polar ice is an enigma that time alone will answer.

The scientists can only speculate. But if the earth keeps on cooling at the regular rate it ultimately will freeze to death, of that they are fairly certain.

Freedom, Independence and Equality in Operation Are Vital to U.S. Industry, Claim

Prof. Gustavus W. Dyer, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., Addresses Marion Steam Shovel Club at Hotel Harding; Authority on Economics

Absolute freedom, independence and equality in the operation and control of American industry and business in accordance with the provisions of the constitution are a vital requirement for the nation's welfare and progress, Prof. Gustavus W. Dyer, of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., declared in an exceptionally interesting and eloquent after-dinner address given at Hotel Harding last night.

Professor Dyer, who is head of the department of economics at the Tennessee university and has a nation-wide reputation as an authority on this subject, was the principal speaker following a 7 o'clock dinner given by the Marion Steam Shovel Club, an organization made up of officials, department heads and office employes of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. There were about 150 club members and guests at the company which heard the discourse.

Due to a number of fallacies which have existed for years in the minds of a large percentage of the American people, Professor Dyer said, the fundamental American system of freedom in connection with business and industry has been on trial.

Present Trend

The present trend, however, is back to the plan which was in the minds of the pioneer statesmen and patriots who drafted the constitution, he stated, basing this opinion on the results of observations which he has made in traveling through more than 25 states of the Union and delivering addresses to hundreds of audiences made up of both employers and employes.

The fallacies to which the speaker referred, and which he said have been due chiefly to the failure of many persons to think and reason, include the belief that government is intended to control and regulate the activities of individuals, the supposition that government can control values and that employers can fix wages as they see fit, misconception regarding the source and production of wealth, the belief that accumulation of capital should be restricted and the long established idea that capital controls business.

Intent of Charter

Taking as his subject, "The American Theory of Industry," Professor Dyer declared that the founders of this government in drawing up the constitution framed a charter which was not simply a political instrument to provide equal representation in government, but to guarantee freedom and independence in business, education, religion and all other important affairs.

"The basic idea was to give all of us an opportunity to rule ourselves as individuals," said Professor Dyer. "The authors of the constitution did not believe in majority rule. The constitution is actually a solemn protest against majority rule.

"The best possible form of government control is for the government to guarantee freedom. The natural law of supply and demand must be permitted to operate without restriction and this was never more true than it is today.

"Scarcity controls values," the speaker declared, citing as example the fact that while water is the most valuable of all drinks, it has absolutely no market value because of the unlimited supply.

Employers can no longer fix wages as they please, Professor Dyer said. This is becoming more true as time passes and all sections of the country are developing their industrial resources and competition for the services of labor grows keener.

"Production of wealth," Professor Dyer informed his audience, "is merely the result of moving things so that their value is increased."

Uses Illustration

As an illustration, he showed that a tree standing in the forest might be worth no more than $1 while in its natural state but after going through the process of being moved to the mills and converted into a perfected piece of serviceable merchandise, it may attain a value of $100.

"Brain producers" are in greater demand now than ever before, the speaker stated. He declared that the two billion dollars of wealth that Henry Ford is reputed to possess is entirely the creation of his brain. Ford he said, is a notable example of genius for "moving things."

"There is no inconsistency between private ownership of wealth and public service," the audience was informed. "All wealth must be and is dedicated to public service. The man of wealth is limited to the amount of money that he can devote to his own personal use. When it is invested, regardless of what the nature of the investment may be, this money is dedicated to public service."

Outlines Views

Professor Dyer outlined his views on government ownership of utilities by elaborating on the statement that "Railroads under private ownership are served by brains and under government ownership by politicians."

The fallacy which holds that accumulation of capital should be curtailed and controlled was assailed by the speaker, who declared that only where capital is plentiful, as in America, are luxuries available for the masses of the people.

Emery E. Murphy, president of the Marion Steam Shovel Club, opened last night's program with a brief talk and was followed by Charles B. King, vice president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., who spoke briefly in introducing Professor Dyer. Home-made, but Ends Coughs In a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easily made and saves about $2

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, if desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and potatable guaiacol, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Three Students Hurt in Ann Arbor Theater Riots

Ann Arbor, Mich., Mar. 8—Three persons injured was the toll today of a free-for-all battle between police and 500 University of Michigan students.

Police quelled the riot with tear gas after four drives had been made on the doors of the Majestic and Arcade theaters.

The injured:

John Blakely, Rockford, Ill., a senior.

Marvin Slater, Ann Arbor, a graduate of the University.

Victor Westerman, a resident of Ann Arbor.

The outbreak followed the Michigan-Iowa basketball game which Michigan won, thereby giving it the undisputed claim to the Big Ten conference championship.

The students first surged up the street to the Arcade Theater. Singing, yelling, hooting, they rushed toward the entrance but were turned back as the management had a cordon of police waiting for the attack. The Majestic Theater then was selected as the next objective. There the students were met by a force of policemen armed with tear gas.

The students hurled bricks, eggs, sticks and all available objects, but the tear bombs proved too effective and another retreat took place.

Again they returned to the Arcade. This attack was dispelled without much effort. Finally, a few students made another attack on the Majestic, but their efforts to gain entrance were frustrated.

The injured persons were struck either by tear bombs or other flying missiles. Their injuries are not serious. No arrests were made. Police said they intended to drop the matter.

If You're Afraid Of Gall Stones Watch These Signs

Women at the changing time of life and many middle aged men should watch out for hepatic torpidity and gall bladder inflammation, often resulting in gall stones.

Such warning signs as dizzy spells, headaches, shortness of breath, gas in stomach and bowel, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness or nights of restless misery caused by bad dreams and inability to sleep should have immediate attention or months or even years of miserable ill health and perhaps a dangerous surgical operation may result.

Everyone near or past middle life should guard against hepatic torpidity and gall bladder trouble. In the opinion of the writer, one of the best things in the world, for conditions of this kind is the inexpensive home use of "Klax-Ko" Tablets, which Bradley Drug Store or any other good druggist will supply on a binding guarantee to refund their cost, if easily noticeable beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week! Don't wait until your entire system is polluted with poisonous waste or until gall bladder inflammation or gall stones makes a dangerous operation necessary, but start the use of "Klax-Ko" Tablets today. If "Klax-Ko" does not help you, its use will not cost you a penny.—Adv.

MARION YOUTH AGAIN HONORED FOR ABILITY

William Dowler Elected One of 65 Out of 350 for Concert

Besides being a member of that national orchestra which played at the recent meeting of the National Educational Association at Dallas, when 350 high school students, from every state in the union, assembled in a huge orchestra, William Dowler, local High School student was honored by being one of a select group of 65 students who gave a special concert at the conference, last week.

After the first appearance of the national high school orchestra 65 students were selected to play at a morning session of the educators. Dowler played the drums and traps at this appearance. The selection was made by the orchestra leader on the basis of ability.

SEVERAL LOCAL MEN MAY GO TO CHICAGO MEET

Railway Electrical Engineers To Hold Annual Conference Wednesday

[illegible] railway officials [illegible] annual meeting of the [illegible] Electrical Engineers [illegible]day. The meeting [illegible] opened in that [illegible] operating through [illegible]

Marion carried a large number of railway men to the meeting yesterday and today. Among those passing through this city was R. S. Parsons, chief engineer of the Erie Railroad. Mr. Parsons traveled in his private business car No. 170. It was attached to Train No. 7.

Among the many new electrical railway appliances to be displayed at the exposition will be the new system of electrical signals and switches now being installed on the 29-mile-stretch of single track on the New York Central between Burwick and Toledo. This system is so arranged that one man at Fostoria may control the movements of all trains on the 29 miles of track. Fifty trains pass over the rails in that district every 24 hours.

A large number of other novel electrical equipment will be exhibited during the Chicago meeting.

Visits Here

W. L. Roller, engineer of maintenance of way on the Hocking Valley Railroad, was in Marion yesterday. Mr. Roller's offices are in Columbus.

O. L. Enos Here

O. L. Enos, division passenger agent of the Kent Division, Erie Railroad, was a visitor here yesterday.

Accidents Decrease

With a slashing reduction of 49.7 per cent in January, 1927, Pennsylvania Railroad employes of the Western Region made the best decrease in personal injuries for one month in the region's history. Marion is a part of the Western Region of the Pennsy.

These accidents included all cases reportable to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which are of three days' duration or more. Injuries were chopped in January, 1927, to 181 for the Western Region, which is only about one-half of 360, the total number in January of last year.

Every division, including the Toledo district of which Marion is a part, showed a decrease in the number of accidents in January, 1927, over the corresponding month of 1926. Chicago Terminal was first in reduction and the Indiana division was next.

Extra Sleeper

Erie Train No. 7 last night carried an extra sleeper, occupied by delegations to the American Railway Engineers' meeting at Chicago.

Rail Briefs

C. E. Ackerman, chief telephone inspector of the Erie Railroad, Kent Division, was in Marion yesterday.

F. A. Sparks, supervisor of the Toledo district of the Hocking Valley Railroad, was in Columbus yesterday on company business.

A special car carrying the baggage and effects of the "Big Parade" Co., was moved from Ashland to Warren on the Erie Railroad Sunday.

BILL BECOMES LAW AS BOARD DISCUSSES IT

City School Heads Take No Action on Proposals; Bills Ordered Paid

The monthly session of the City Board of Education last night was short. The only business taken up was the payment of bills. Members then turned to a discussion of legislation now before the legislature and governor concerning the school systems of the state. One bill, that of setting up a pension system for school custodians discussed last night, was passed by the legislature while the school board was talking about it. The bill makes it possible for custodians, by petitioning the school board, to have a custodian pension board set up in each city school district. Where the custodians do not petition for the pension system it does not go into effect. The custodians, where they desire the pension system, contribute two per cent of their salary and the school board puts in not less than one-tenth of one per cent and not more than one-fifth of one per cent of all revenue, into the pension fund.

So far there has been no expression from local school custodians as to whether or not they will ask for the pension system to be put in effect here.

Board members last night also discussed, without taking any action, the proposed legislation to equalize the cost of education between the school districts where revenue barely covers the cost of the schools and the districts where the income in sufficient to pay the cost of the schools. Local board members are of the opinion that it would mean that city school districts would be called on to bear a share of the educational cost of the poorer school districts of the country.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

No nervous break-down Just Dandruff

Women who worry about their hair have just one thing to blame—dandruff! Not once in ten thousand times are dull, thin locks due to anything else.

It's the dead scale of dandruff, not waving or washing, that takes the life and lustre out of hair. You can prove this before you go to bed tonight. For you can be rid of every particle of dandruff. Just use the preparation that dissolves it.

Danderine is the one thing made to dissolve dandruff, and is the one thing that does! The one thing which gives dead hair back its sheen. And gives old heads a chance to let the new hair grow.

One 35 cent bottle of Danderine will put your scalp in the pink of condition, any druggist can tell you the reason, and will give you back your money if it doesn't!

INSOLVENCY OF FIRMS NOT BAR TO INSURANCE

State Supreme Court Hands Down Ruling Affecting Compensation Law

Columbus, Mar. 5—Under the Ohio Workmen's Compensation Act, the state industrial commission may authorize payment of compensation, or awards from the state insurance fund even though the employer or employing firm, directly affected by the awards, becomes insolvent or goes out of business.

This ruling was announced today by the state supreme court.

Granting applications for writs of mandamus, the supreme court ordered the state industrial commission to pay Mrs. Mary F. Rodd, Tontogany, Wood County, $2,017.01 as balance due from the state on certain final awards totalling $3,017.82 granted by the commission because of the death of Mrs. Rodd's husband, Seymour Rodd, and to pay William W. Williams, former employe, compensation aggregating $337.14 because of injuries sustained by Williams during a fall.

Two Cases Cited

Court records show that Rodd, an employe of the Royce & Cron Grain Co. at Tontogany was killed Feb. 21, 1922, in a grain elevator. Holding the company responsible for Rodd's death, the industrial commission awarded payment to the widow, but canceled payment on the ground that there was no fund in which to reimburse the state insurance fund that much as the grain company had gone out of business.

Williams was hurt during a fall down an elevator shaft in the plant of Charles W. Finch & Co., Columbus, where he was employed. After holding the company responsible for the accident, the commission requested the attorney general to collect the compensation award because the company had neither contributed to the state insurance fund nor elected to pay compensation direct to injured employes. The commission, upon being notified that the company was insolvent and unable to pay, stopped further payments to Williams, which were at the rate of $15 per week.

Mandamus suits then were filed in the State Supreme Court on behalf of Mrs. Rodd and Williams seeking orders to compel the industrial commission to complete payments of those awards from the state insurance fund.

CHAUFFEUR EXAMINATION AT AUTO CLUB FRIDAY

Law Applies to About 50 Persons in County; Blanks Ready

The annual examination of automobile chauffeurs employed in Marion County will be held Friday afternoon at the Marion Automobile Club on Home Heights, Mrs. Jo Shaffer, secretary of the club announced today.

The work will be in charge of an examiner from the office of the state commissioner of motor vehicles at Columbus, who will receive applications from chauffeurs and take up cases of those charged with violations of the registration laws. Persons whose operations extend outside Marion County must take the examination in order to qualify for the coming year. The law applies to about 50 in the county.

Each applicant must come in to register both personally and mentally. Mrs. Shaffer stated today that no one can take the examination unless they have their application blanks filled out and suggests that applicants obtain photographs and bring them in at the time of the examination.

CLEANING PLANT FIRE CAUSES SMALL DAMAGE

Fire in the plant of the Fashion Cleaners & Dyers, corner of Lincoln and Fleming-st, yesterday afternoon caused an estimated damage of $500, according to a statement made at the office of the fire chief.

The flames, caused by a spark or explosion in one of the gasoline washers being operated for spreading by auto owners, damaged machinery and equipment in operation of the plant, the manager stated.

Aside from his hair being singed, Frank Gilie, employe who was in the room when the explosion occurred, escaped uninjured, it was reported.

LA RUE SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE TAKING DICK TEST

Immunization of students at the La Rue school was going on today as Dr. N. Schultz, county health commissioner, and Dr. Johnson, of the state health department, following the giving of Dick tests for scarlet fever at the school yesterday. This is the second school in the county to be given the Dick tests, Meeker students having been tested previously.

SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Ray Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sherman, 715 Silver-st, who is receiving aid of a blood clot on the brain, is reported to be slightly improved today.

BODY IS NOT IN LAKE, BELIEF OF VETERAN DIVER

Toledo Man Called Here To Consider Advisability of Exploring Depths

WOULD POSTPONE DIVING

Theory That Carlton Virden Is Alive Gains Credence; Continue Hunt

Belief that the body of Carlton Virden, 18, is not in Crystal Lake was expressed today by James Rabbitt of Toledo, veteran deep water diver who was called here to consider the advisability of exploring the depths of the lake in search of the remains of the youth, who is supposed to have committed suicide on Dec. 2.

Mr. Rabbitt bases this opinion on the results of a survey which he made of the lake this morning and also on the fact that local county and city authorities have dragged the lake thoroughly in a futile attempt to locate the body.

He made it clear, however, that he does not want his views to be regarded as positive for he concedes that there is possibility that the body may be in the water and has been prevented from rising from some unknown cause.

May Suspend Work

As a result of Mr. Rabbitt's visit, it is probable that plans for diving operations at the lake will be held in abeyance for about 60 days when spring weather will raise the temperature of the water. This prospective delay is proposed as the result of Mr. Rabbitt's statement that bodies do not come to the surface in water of freezing temperature.

He does not believe, however, that this is an answer to the Crystal Lake mystery. It is certain, local officials say, that the lake water was nowhere near the freezing point when young Virden is supposed to have taken his fatal plunge and that it did not approach that stage for at least several weeks afterward, giving the body ample time to come to the surface.

Decision on what course will be taken was to be made at a conference scheduled for this afternoon between Fred B. Scherff, manager of Crystal Lake Park, Mr. Rabbitt, M. A. Virden of Meeker, guardian of the missing youth, and several county and city police officials.

Arranges Visit

Mr. Scherff, who arranged for Mr. Rabbitt's visit here today, said that he and the Crystal Lake Park Co. will act in accordance with the decision reached at this conference.

"We are ready and willing to do everything possible to solve this problem," Mr. Sherff said, speaking in behalf of the Crystal Lake Co. "Money to pay the expense of a diver's services will be available at any time. If Mr. Virden, police officials and others interested believe that the diving should be delayed until warm weather arrives, that will be the plan followed."

In advance of the conference it was indicated that Mr. Rabbitt's suggestions will be carried out. He pointed out that a delay of 60 days would open the way for three possible solutions of the mystery—first, discovery that the Virden boy is alive, second, that the body may rise to the surface as the water becomes warmer, and third, bringing the hunt to a climax by sending a diver into the depths of the lake.

Belief Growing

The theory that the youth is not dead, but that he ran away from home and left a suicide note to cover his tracks, was advanced by many persons since the investigation started early in December and increased credence has been given to this view as passing months have failed to bring up the body.

Should plans to postpone diving operations be decided upon today, relatives of young Virden and local authorities will renew their efforts to find some trace of him on the presumption that he is alive. It is likely that the hunt will take on nation-wide proportions.

Mr. Rabbitt is a member of the firm of M. Rabbitt & Sons Co., of Toledo, one of the best known marine contracting concerns in the Great Lakes district. The company carries on extensive dredging operations, its equipment including a large number of machines made by the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Deep water diving is an important part of the company's work and complete equipment is carried. James Rabbitt, the man here today, was a diver for 40 years but has retired from that branch of the work, turning it over to his two sons and to other younger employes.

58 Years Old

Mr. Rabbitt, who is 58 years of age, has long been a prominent figure in Great Lakes dredging and construction work. Some of the largest Great Lakes contracts of the last 50 years have been handled by the Rabbitt Co., founded by his father, James Rabbitt who was superintendent of the construction of the Lake St. Clair Flats, 22 years ago.

During all of his 40 years experience as a diver, Mr. Rabbitt says, he has never known of the body of a person who committed suicide by drowning being held under the water by weights attached to the body. This statement was made after he was informed that some persons believe that young Virden tied some heavy object to his person before leaping into the lake.

Mr. Rabbitt also is of the opinion that there is little possibility of the body being caught under a ledge at the side of the lake or on some projection on the lake bottom.

There is no current in the lake, he states, and if the body is actually in there, it will be found exactly at the point where the youth jumped in.

JUDGE STRUBLE IS CONGRATULATED

Cincinnati, Mar. 8—Judge Stanley Struble, of Hamilton County common pleas court, whose opinion in the North College Hill case declaring unconstitutional the law whereby village mayors presided over liquor law cases was upheld by the supreme court of the United States Monday, was a busy man today.

Telephone calls, telegrams, and visitors extending congratulations swamped him.

"This opinion of the supreme court is a rebirth of constitutional liberty," he declared. "The effect of the decision is to release the citizens of this state from the grip of inferior courts."

WHEELER SAYS RULING NOT TO HAMPER DRYS

Washington, Mar. 8—The supreme court decision holding unconstitutional an Ohio law that gives village mayors a direct pecuniary interest in the conviction of minor law violators will not seriously hamper the prohibition authorities in their work, Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon League, said here today.

"The Ohio legislature," said Wheeler, "has already changed the law in such a way as virtually to correct the situation covered by the supreme court's decision. And I am advised by a telegram from the Ohio Anti-Saloon League that an amendment further designed to clear up this situation has already been presented to the legislature which is now in session."

M'DONALD ISSUES HIS INSTRUCTIONS

Columbus, Mar. 8—All persons arrested by state prohibition agents for liquor law violations in Ohio will be tried in courts where the presiding judge is a salaried officer, according to instructions being issued here today by B. F. McDonald, state prohibition director, to state prohibition agents all over Ohio.

The instructions were being prepared by McDonald following the ruling of the United States Supreme Court Tuesday.

FILE HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS FOR FIVE

Cincinnati, Mar. 8—The first act to gain liberty for persons convicted of violating prohibition laws under the village court system, which was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court yesterday, was made here today.

Habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of five prisoners now in the Hamilton County jail were filed in common pleas court here today.

More than 20 persons, convicted under the invalidated act, are now serving sentences in this county, it was said.

THREATENS TO SUE DEAL FOR DEATH OF HIS DOG

B. W. Woodruff Says Sheriff Did Not Wait Customary Three Days

Suit against Sheriff James A. Deal was threatened today by B. W. Woodruff, 684 E. Church-st, who charges that his dog, picked up by the sheriff sometime Monday, was shot without being held the customary three days in the county dog pound, to give the owner a chance to claim the animal.

Woodruff said he planned to file suit against Sheriff Deal for $50. He claims he paid $35 for the dog, an Airedale and has had him for two years.

Sheriff Deal refused to discuss the shooting of the dog or the threatened suit, when asked about it today noon.

Lost Collar

Woodruff claims that the dog was held in the dog pound not more than six hours. According to the owner of the animal the dog lost his license tag and collar sometime Sunday. This is the second license tag Woodruff has bought for the dog this year, the first having been either lost or stolen, he says.

On Monday morning Mrs. Woodruff let the dog out of the house and he disappeared, he said. Woodruff's son-in-law, Clifford Barnhart, claims to have seen the dog downtown Monday noon. The animal did not return last night, and this morning Woodruff started out to hunt for him. He went to the dog pound after searching the neighborhood and found the dog there, shot, he said. Woodruff claims the sheriff told him he had no business around the dog pound, when Woodruff demanded to know why his dog had been shot within a few hours after being picked up.

Woodruff claims, and this was borne out by other county officials, that a dog must be held in the dog pound three days from the time it is picked up before it may be shot. Under the statutes the county must reimburse the sheriff for all dogs held and fed in this way.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. George Schambs of Richwood are the parents of a son born this morning at City Hospital. Mrs. Schambs was formerly Miss Gurley Kraner of this city.

Announcement was made today of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Royer of Hartville, O., Saturday, Mar. 5 at the Hiese Maternity Hospital in Canton. Mrs. Royer was formerly Miss Lois Betz of this city, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Betz, 300 Chicago-av.

A son was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker at their home, Patterson-st, according to announcement made today.

Lime City Council Meets With Bucyrus Order

Sixteen members of Lime City Council No. 266, Junior Order of United American Mechanics initiated a class of four candidates at a joint meeting of members of the local and Bucyrus Councils held last night in Bucyrus. Members of the Past Councilors Association were represented at their regular quarterly meeting Sunday afternoon at the Mansfield lodge by E. C. Johnson, Charles Arndt, R. M. Miller and Walter Semons.

Plans are in progress for the annual district memorial session to be held at Crestline June 5 and for the next Past Councilors quarterly meeting, May 29 at Perrysville.

Daily Proverb—"Who would not have feet set on his neck, let him not stoop."

That outburst you do not hear is the nation-wide riotous demand for a special session of congress.

It is said that there is one-tenth more dust in Chicago's air than there was a year ago. Maybe her famous stock yards breeze has been congealing.

To give an idea of the arduous character of the duties of Mayor Walker, of New York, it may be pointed out that he often goes a week or ten days without taking a vacation.

Family matters are assigned for the return home of the Mexican ambassador, but it isn't stated whether they are domestic or official.

But when all is said, the best thing to say about the past session of congress is to say nothing and forget it. Certainly, there can be little enjoyment in remembrance.

You never can tell. It's not impossible that the chief powers interested may soon be asking somebody to help them let loose of the Chinese bear's tail.

A senatorial investigation of crookedness in the selection of members of the upper house of congress necessarily must bear the stigma of being partisan unless it investigates disfranchisement in the South as well as lavish expenditure of money in the North.

It looks as though about all Messrs. Vare and Smith can do with those certificates of their election to the senate will be have them framed and hung in the front room.

That was a fine little boost for the presidency given Speaker Longworth by Representative Pou, of North Carolina, the other day, but it's hardly probable the idea was entirely new to the speaker. There's a sort of a suspicion that Nick has done a little thinking himself along the presidential line.

It's just possible that the one Reed never would have inaugurated his filibuster had the other Reed shown less enthusiasm for making his investigation along partisan lines.

The Columbus Citizen holds that no law can be enforced anywhere the great mass of the people see no harm in what it prohibits. That's the kind of talk which has turned Chicago over to the bandits, the gunmen and the bootleggers. It's not a reflection on the law, but rather on the people.

The mystery of mysteries is how the youths who are hurrying their departure from this old world of ours escaped the knowledge that dodging the responsibilities of life is generally considered fearfully bad form.

It doesn't look exactly square for those conversant with the facts to have waited until Mr. Ford blew himself for Mary's school-house before disclosing that there was no Mary, no lamb and no school-house to which the mythical Mary took her mythical lamb. To us it looks like a low-down trick on "Uncle Henry."

Youthful Criminals.

"Shoot him! He won't give us the money."

Thus urged one young criminal to another, who had Motorman C. R. Gibson covered with an automatic on east Fairground street near Greenwood, Sunday night, just after the motorman had turned his trolley. The motorman had parleyed with the two when his money had been demanded, and when the one urged the other to shoot, he slammed the door of the car, which he got into motion, and got away.

Two youths, presumably the same two from their descriptions, robbed R. A. Raub, of Pearl street, as he was passing along Columbia street between Main and Prospect the same night and succeeded in getting something like $11 from him. He said they apparently were about sixteen, and that one of them was armed with an automatic.

There has been, of late, a lot of youthful crime in Marion, as there has been all over the land. Ninety per cent. of all the crimes of today is being committed by boys and young men. As we have previously stated, the day when we can excuse crime on the ground of youth is past. Locally, little of it has been accompanied by threats of homicide, but should homicide result, youth should suffer the penalty just the same as age.

Speaking in advance of any fatal consequence of local crime by youths, we can not possibly be accused of prejudice when we say that should a homicide occur as the result of the activity of our youthful criminals, we hope they will be apprehended and punished to the limit of the law, and that we shall not have exhibitions of maudlin sentimentality on the part of any of our people looking to the lightening of the punishment of such young criminals.

A boy who, in the commission of a crime, takes human life should be punished for his crime precisely the same as a man of mature years. A man or woman murdered by a boy is just as thoroughly dead as though his or her slayer had attained man's estate, and retribution for such a crime should be swift and sure.

From Very Small Seed.

Hector Bolitho, the Australian author who is with the Windsor Castle choir, the 600-year-old organization which is making a six-weeks tour of Canada, came down from Toronto last week to call on his New York publishers and while there drew a striking new picture of the late Queen Victoria, one as far apart from that portrayed in Lytton Strachey's biography of the queen as the poles.

Instead of being the somewhat dull and wooden, and sometimes petty, character painted by Strachey, Bolitho told New York newspapermen that she was kind and tolerant, had a decided vein of humor, was witty, was alive to the best in literature and the arts and had an utter horror of the mid-Victorianism which took its name from the epoch she dominated."

Bolitho's trip with the choir and his insight into the intimate life of the queen who so long and so well ruled Great Britain resulted from the fact that for the past year he has been making a study for historical purposes of the thousands of manuscripts being preserved in Windsor castle. Among other manuscripts he came upon a great collection of letters written by Lady Augusta Stanley, lady-in-waiting to the queen, to her sister, Lady Frances Baillie, mother of Dean Stanley of Windsor. Lady Augusta and Lady Frances were the daughters of Lord Elgin and were reared almost as the daughters of the Duchess of Kent, Queen Victoria's mother.

"Lady Augusta Stanley's release from the circumscribed life of the court," said Mr. Bolitho, "was in the letters she wrote to her sister, the dean's mother. Each night after she had gone to her room she wrote of occurrences and of her reactions to them, and in the long period during which she was so close to the queen she wrote some 800,000 words. She wrote interestingly and colorfully and often in a gay spirit of the queen and those about her, and without any thought that the letters ever would be published.

"Some of the letters are bright and overflowing with humor. Others are moving portrayals of tragedies in the life of the queen.

"The queen was no mid-Victorian prude. She was a foe of hypocrisy and intolerance. She was kindness itself to her servants, and was indulgent to a fault with them when they were guilty of misbehavior. She was tolerant, too, of her oldest son, afterward Edward VII, and incidentally, King Edward was not nearly the rake he has often been painted. Sensational traditions can grow up from a very small seed of fact.

"Queen Victoria was predominantly the wife and mother and was deeply religious, with a faith that was broadening rather than restricting, but all through her life she existed for her country. She was obsessed with the idea that her mission was to give all for England, and gave more than she received from life."

"Sensational traditions can grow up from a very small seed of fact." How true this is! How often we have seen it demonstrated! But there is this consoling thought: the sensationalists, the slanderers and the libelers of the living, the traducers of the dead, the assassins of reputation, the purveyors of filth—let us class them all as the sewer searchers—may have their day, but in time the truth will prevail, and justice will be done to their victims, if not in life, then to the memories of the misrepresented, traduced and villified after death.

It begins to look as though the scientists who predicted that the present year would be marked by mighty storms and other devastating manifestations of nature, basing their predictions on the fact that the sun spots will reach their maximum this year, either knew what they were talking about or had made a remarkably intelligent guess.

Colonel Ruppert is said to have talked Babe Ruth out of $30,000. If the colonel's services are not requisitioned for the next great philanthropic campaign inaugurated somebody will have overlooked a bet.

It may be remarked, even though the observation be a trifle late, that Vice President Dawes is thoroughly human. He simply couldn't resist the temptation to say to the senate: "I told you so."

It took us a good many years to solve the mystery, but at last we realize that woman's reason for giving the house a thorough going-over each week is to keep in practice for spring and fall house-cleaning.

The Christian Science Monitor remarks that: "rhubarb pie used to be one of the surest signs of spring in the United States," but "nowadays it is simply another evidence of southern enterprise." And thereby the Monitor brings out one of the mistakes a lot of Americans are making; they are never content to wait to eat fruits and plants and vegetables in season. They always want them before their local time. And this characteristic in us is one of the causes of the high cost of living.

Vagrant Verse.

TO THE SINKING SUN.

How graciously thou wear'st the yoke
Of use that does not fail!
The grasses, like an anchored smoke,
Ride in the bending gale;
This knoll is snowed with blosmy manna,
And bird-drop as a seraph's mail.
Here every eve thou stretchest out
Untarnishable wing,
And marvellously bring'st about
Newly an olden thing:
Nor ever through like-ordered heaven
Moves largely thy grave progressing
Here every eve thou goest down
Behind the self-same hill.
Nor ever twice alike go'st down
Behind the self-same hill;
Nor like-ways in one flame-sopping flower
Possessed with glory past its will.
Not twice alike! I am not blind.
My sight is live to see:
And yet I do complain of thy
Weary variety.
O Sun! I ask thee less or more,
Change not at all, or utterly!
O altered yet, all joyed of yore,
Plodding in unconned ways!
O grief grieved out, and yet once more
A dull, new, staled amaze!
I dream, and all was dreamed before,
Or dream I see the dreamer says.

STILL ANOTHER WASHINGTON CHERRY TREE STORY!

Ways To Avoid Heart Disease.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

One of the great life insurance companies has put out a statement regarding heart disease. According to the report this now ranks first among the causes of death.

One of the startling things said in the statement to which I refer is that heart disease "will claim as its victims one-fifth of the present population."

If such deaths were inevitable I wouldn't speak about the trouble at all. I should avoid it as something which must be, and, since it can not be helped, let it go at that.

But it isn't necessary for many of these deaths to occur from that particular cause. By following the right program of living the heart will stand by until its owner lives out his normal expectancy.

The heart is made up of muscle, a delicate lining membrane called the endocardium, and sets of valves closely fitted in their appropriate spaces. The heart muscle must work, almost without ceasing, from birth till death. The valves move in and out, during all this time. The lining membrane is constantly bathed and swept by the nourishing stream of blood.

Left to itself and uninfluenced by the rest of the body, the heart would never fail. It is the most faithful servant in all the world.

But, the trouble is, the owner of the heart abuses this devoted organ. By late hours, excessive indulgence in tobacco and alcohol, by the taking of improper food, by overfatigue and hard work, by excitement and worry—by many such unnecessary indulgences and performances, the poor old heart is imposed upon almost every day of the year.

Just as the heart is quickly moved by emotion, so it is speedily affected by poisons in the system. The poisons generated in a constipated and overloaded intestine will quickly harm the heart.

The lining membrane of the heart and the membrane covering the heart valves are tissues easily disturbed by pus infections, no matter what they may be in the body. Pussy gums, abscessed teeth, pus filled tonsils, infected nasal sinuses—no matter where may be the pus center, the heart lining is in danger.

It is rare indeed that the heart is primarily affected. In practically every case there is trouble elsewhere before the heart suffers.

The decent thing about disease, if disease can ever be decent, is that it gives warning of its coming. It rarely pounces on you like a highwayman. If you heed the warnings you will get rid of the original trouble and thus avoid disease of the heart.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Funny, ain't it, how people like to show off their language at the table. Seems like there's no time when folks feel they're set for a show-off like at meals. Now, I like meals for eating purposes, but all the time I'm meeting folks that don't seem to care nothing at all about the taste of things. They just want a chance to call a napkin a serviette, or something like that.

So there was some people eating in a swell restaurant in New York, and one of the men ordered ham and eggs. The lady next to him thought she'd throw a little language, so she told the waiter, who was colored: "I'll have the same, but eliminate the eggs, please."

When the orders came in, the lady had ham and eggs, and she looked pained at the waiter.

"I told you to eliminate the eggs," she said. And she high-hatted that boy awful.

"Yes'm," the colored boy came back, smiling all over his face, "but the chef said he was mighty sorry, 'cause our eliminator is all broke this mawning, ma'am."—Copyright, 1927.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Talking about colleges and young folks, Dean Hawks, of Columbia university, says: "Colleges must learn to understand the jazz age before they can provide a useful education to the present generation. He says, 'the day is past when a teacher can read the same notes to a docile class year after year. If the teacher does not have life enough to progress or recognize that his subject is alive and developing, his students will take the initiative in making progress along some other and more vital course.'"

Whether we are talking about colleges or something else the whole secret of success is in the power of growth. So many just "get by" by doing the same things over and over in the easiest way. Many teachers "get by" that way. So do business men. The few in all lines who make outstanding marks for themselves are those who see that no subject, no job, no work of any kind can ever be at a standstill. There are always better things to say, better ways of doing things. There is always development to be had, if we are not too lazy to develop.

The Catholic church is called conservative. That depends upon what you mean by conservative. A despatch from Rome says Pope Pius is thinking about using aeroplanes in church affairs. Cardinals may use planes to bring them to Rome when there is necessity for a quick summons. The Pope, a voluntary prisoner in the Vatican by tradition, does not enter Italian territory. With an aeroplane he could visit distant lands beyond the limits of Italy.

We think we have seen changes in this generation. We have been thrilled and shocked. We shall see greater changes, we shall be more thrilled and more shocked in the next generation.

In the life story of Rider Haggard, famous British writer, we read: "I have met many men and have seen many lands. I have known many emotions—all of them, I think, except that of hate."

What a fortunate man was Rider Haggard! Hate tears down the body and shrivels up the soul. To be able to say, when you go to bed at night: "I do not hate anybody in the world," is better than a sleeping potion.

The emotion of hate uses up the nervous energy. It poisons the body. It makes people sick. It makes them unhappy. It is the most devastating of all emotions.

Of one thing about this "supreme intelligence which pervades the universe" that Thomas Edison talks about, we may be sure. It will always be there. It will last. How important, then, become the words of Longfellow:

"Man is unjust, but God is just; and finally justice triumphs."

There is much talk about compensation in this life. As far as one can observe there is no compensation that we can be sure of. Eventually—there will be compensation and justice. But thousands who deserve it will never live—here to see it. Might as well face the facts about that.

Dinner Stories.

It had been a quiet evening. She had despaired of the young man making any demonstration; he seemed very timid.

"He expressed a desire to wring my neck, sir," stammered the butler anxiously.

"Well—er—humour him," smiled the doctor as he went.

Salutary Verdict.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

It is no easy duty for a jury to bring in a verdict of manslaughter against a young man guilty of unintentional and unmalicious homicide. Yet such verdicts are sometimes necessary for the protection of society. When recklessness is proved against the driver of a man-killing automobile it is a miscarriage of justice to acquit the offender no matter how unblemished his character and previous record may be. Any jury, mindful of its oath to find in accordance with the facts and the law, is remiss if it permits itself to be swayed by sympathy for the defendant or moved by any consideration other than the testimony.

A Cleveland jury has just found a twenty-three-year-old youth guilty of manslaughter in the killing of a man and child. The verdict means that this man must serve a long term in prison unless the higher courts reverse the jury's finding. And regardless of the action of any court of review the verdict unquestionably makes Cleveland streets a little safer. Men inclined to disregard the mandates of caution will drive a little more sanely and a little less selfishly when they realize that a fatal accident may mean a long sojourn behind bars.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Is it not true that rubber trees grow in Florida? G. M. S.

A. Most of the popular accounts of rubber trees in Florida relate to Ficus elastica, or the so-called "Assam" rubber tree, the same species that is often grown as a house plant in the North. In Florida and also in California this species grows in the open air and attains a large size, though not always containing rubber. Many experimental plantings of Ficus have been made in tropical countries, but the results have not been favorable in comparison with the Para rubber tree of Brazil, to which all commercial plantings are now confined.

Q. Is the amphitheater at Arlington a memorial to the "Unknown Soldier?" N. A.

A. The Memorial amphitheater of Arlington was erected to the memory of all the soldier dead of the United States who have died in the service of their country. The tomb of the "Unknown Soldier" is directly in front of the amphitheater.

• • •

Q. What is an encyclical? C. T. T.

A. An encyclical is a circular letter and in an ecclesiastical sense means a letter addressed by the Pope to all the bishops in the world who are in communication with him.

• • •

Q. What course does a bill have to take to become a federal law? C. H. B.

A. The routing chart of normal course of a bill introduced in the house of representatives follows: draughting room; introduced; referred to committee; debated in committee; debated on floor of house; passed house, published as house bill; introduced in senate; printed as act of house; referred to committee; debated in committee; debated on floor of senate; passed senate; signed by president; printed as slip law; printed in session laws; printed in statutes-at-large.

Q. What is the system of off and on traffic lights, on Sixteenth street, Washington, called? J. R. H.

A. The official term used by the traffic bureau for the present signaling by lights on Sixteenth street is the "coordinate system." When the lights were first installed the system was termed "synchronized" as all the lights were the same at the same time. In the coordinate system the lights vary—the "stop" and "go" signals are in sections for the same streets.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, March 8—A certain district on New York's West Side is given over to many private buildings housing those chiffon ladies whose flats are rented by gentlemen using fictitious names. They live restlessly in a gripping splendor, pungent with heavy perfume of sandalwood boxes and rose leaf jars.

While arrayed in the tonicst chinchillas and trundled about in the smartest of limousines they are lashed by constant fear it will all end any day. They are the delight of those gushing, cooing Madams of the dress-making establishments.

Their accounts are heavy and inked in red—meaning bills must be sent only to certain office addresses. And never to a home. It is a languid existence of reading popular novels in negligee ease and making ceaseless rounds of beauty parlors.

Companionship is made up chiefly of fluffy, snappy dogs and colored maids "who live out." Friendships of the ordinary sort in this world mean gossip and gossip is deadly. So they are ladies who walk alone and fight off gathering shadows in the solitude of lavender toned apartments.

They are usually heavy with jewels for in the collection of these is their hope of old age independence. Gaiety for them seems to be expressed in sitting on the rim of a supper club dance floor wearing a doggy Parisian frock flowered with orchids.

Strangely enough they rarely indulge in alcoholic drinks for dissipation, they realize leaves telltale marks. Many of them are talented and came to New York seeking careers, and falling, drifted off into what has paradoxically become known as "the easiest way."

Lately it has been the custom to portray the college boy as a gin-guzzling, cigaret-inhaling jazz hound. His mornings are given over to clearing the headache and his nights to being tossed out of supper clubs. My acquaintance among them is slight, but not one I know fits that picture. Also I notice the college men holding down the biggest executive jobs hereabouts are those who were graduated from small freshwater colleges of the Middle and Far West.

MAJOR GENERAL JAMES H. McRAE.

Major General James H. McRae, commanding general of the Second army corps area, has served more than forty years in the United States army. He entered the service on his graduation from the United States Military academy in 1886. He was twice cited for gallantry in action in the Spanish-American war and in the Philippine insurrection. During the World war he participated in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne operations as commander of the Seventy-Eighth division. Major General McRae has been awarded the honor medals of the United States, Great Britain and France. He was born at Lumber City, Georgia, December 24, 1863.

CHARGES AGAINST TWO FATHERS DISMISSED

Clarence Stone, 30, and Enoch B. Mewhorter, 53, Released by Judge

Charges filed against two fathers for failure to provide for the support of their children were dismissed in [illegible] yesterday.

Clarence Stone, 30, arrested in Toledo and brought here for hearing on a charge filed by a non-support [illegible] was released following a hearing at which it was shown that he had made payments in Lucas County to the support of his family. The evidence showed that Stone had already made two payments to the Lucas County Humane Society for the support of his two children, Shirley S. and Virginia, 4.

A charge, also filed by his wife, alleging failure to support his seven-year-old son, Ivan Tolley, was also withdrawn when he arranged a guarantee to provide for him in the future.

Pains That Never Came

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking!

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has Midol for 50 cents in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

Three Current Sources for Radio Broadcasters

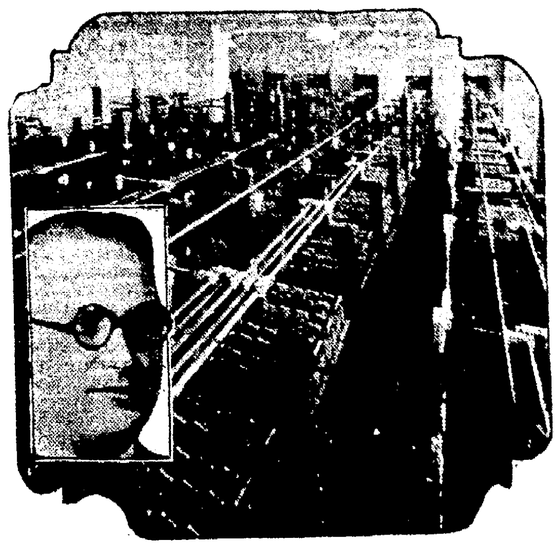

Photo of what is said to be the largest storage battery in the world. It supplies current to radio station WTAM at Cleveland, O. Inset is of C. C. Russel, battery expert of the station.

• • •

WHEN radio began to take its place in the industrial field a new line of electrical work was opened. The broadcaster must supply his transmitting tubes with direct current. There are only three sources of current. Some stations use current from a generaotr, others use rectified alternating current, while many others depend on storage batteries.

The generator probably is the most popular means of making electricity for radio tube cosumption, chiefly because of its comparatively low initial cost and ease of installation. Most radio stations use a generator. When rent presents a big item to consider the generator is usually used because it requires little space.

Method Used at Pittsburgh

Another system is to use rectified alternating current and apply the pulsating direct current resulting, to the tubes. This method is used by KDKA of Pittsburgh.

The storage battery which supplies current to the transmitting tubes of Radio Station WTAM at Cleveland, O., is said to be the largest in the world. It is made up of 4,800 cells, each with a capacity of 24 ampere hours and delivers 9,600 volts. If all the cells were to be filled at one time it would require eight hours to complete the task. Years ago it was thought necessary to use distilled water in batteries; a hose connected to the water faucet fills the cells at WTAM. This would not be possible in a region where there is considerable mineral matter in the water.

LAKEWOOD PERSONS HERE FOR WHIPPS FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Kramer of Lakewood were among those from out of the city in attendance at funeral services held for Mrs. Frances Adelaide Whipps at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home, 402 S. State st. Rev. R. W. Smiley, pastor of First Presbyterian church, was in charge and burial was in Marion Cemetery. Mrs. Whipps died Sunday.

LAST RITES ARE HELD FOR CHARLES F. WILSON

Funeral services for Charles F. Wilson, who died Friday night at City Hospital, were held at 1:30 o'clock at the home, 341 S. Prospect st, and at 2 o'clock at Epworth M. E. Church today. Dr. B. I. George, pastor, officiated and burial was in Marion Cemetery.

TAKEN HOME

Miss Helen Wolfe has been removed from City Hospital to her home, 1 Kelly ct., in the M. H. Gunder ambulance. She recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips" Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

Devastating Love

SHE met him at the seashore. He was her kind of man. So she set out to attract him—and succeeded.

He was married—and told her so. To her that made no difference. She decided there was no harm in a single girl having an "innocent" affair with a married man. So together they passed a wonderful vacation dancing, swimming, motoring, all clean, honest, decent.

It came time for them to part. Then the terrible blow fell. As she saw him go back to home, wife and babies she realized that she had learned to love madly, with all her heart and with all her soul—a married man.

So this girl who hitherto had been the soul of honor determined that, in spite of everything, she would not give up the man she loved and so . . . .

This is the opening episode of "Mad Infatuation," one of the seventeen powerful true stories in True Story Magazine for April. Not only a gripping and profoundly moving story, it is an earnest warning against a common error that besets youth in these days of almost unlimited freedom.

We want every girl, every mother, to read this story—to follow the girl who lived it through the series of tragic events that jeopardized the sanctity of an established home and ruined her life. You will find it on page 51 of True Story for April. Be sure to read it.

"HOW THRILLED I WAS—Bert loved me—and, divorce or no divorce, his wife could never take him from me."

"I DIDN'T LIKE THE WAY HE LOOKED AT ME"—Her husband ill, their savings gone, she took the one chance to save him by joining a musical revue, and when called to pose on the living curtain, it was too late to turn back. This girl's tragic story, "I Tried to Save My Home", appears in April True Story.

Only Real Life Could Produce Dramas Like These

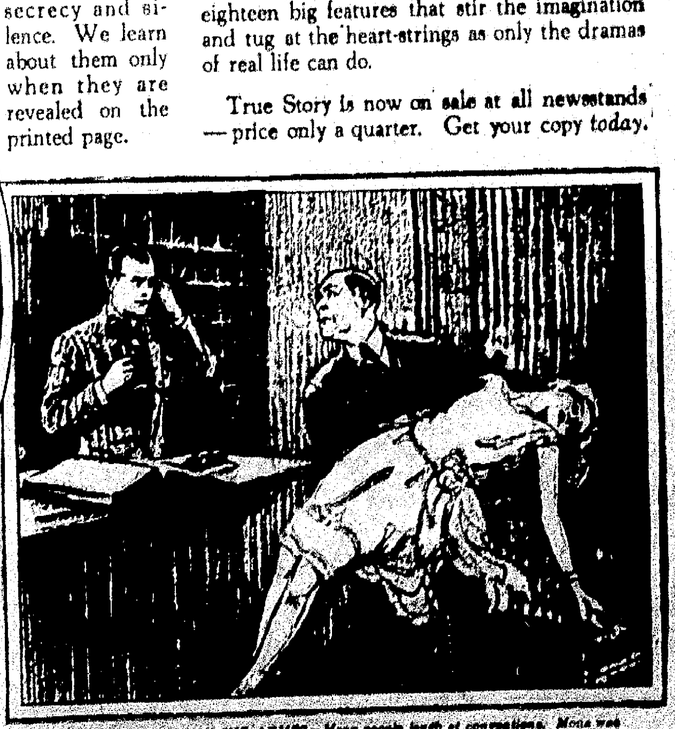
IN every human life, sooner or later, there comes a crisis. Something of great consequence happens. It may be a crisis in love or marriage. It may be honor that is threatened, fortune that is imperilled, happiness that is endangered. Even life itself may be at stake.

The world is full of such dramas—dramas of love and hate, of temptation and wrong, of struggle, defeat, triumph and tragedy. But most of these dramas unfold behind a curtain of secrecy and silence. We learn about them only when they are revealed on the printed page.

Every month between the covers of True Story Magazine the joys and sorrows, the triumphs and failures, the loves, the mysteries of life are woven into dramatic patterns all the more thrilling because they are true.

These fascinating narrative-dramas are written by ordinary everyday persons like yourself. They picture the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the good and the bad, the happy and the sorrowing. In the April issue, for example, are eighteen big features that stir the imagination and tug at the heart-strings as only the dramas of real life can do.

True Story is now on sale at all newsstands—price only a quarter. Get your copy today.



"SHE LAY LIMP IN HIS ARMS"—Many people laugh at conventions. Mona was one of the many. Then came that terrible night when she knew there must be an accounting. (See "My Blind Betrayal," in April True Story Magazine.)

"SHE ASKED ME TO FORGIVE"—True life offers no drama more amazing than this tremendous battle of two brothers for a woman's love. "Have You Passed This Way" is one of the big prize winners in True Story's recent $50,000.00 contest. Don't miss it.

"STICK 'EM UP!"—It all began with Dina's longing for money, clothes, jewels, fame. Then came High, who won her heart. But what about Dearing? Would he keep her secret? You can't afford to miss "Fools' Gold." (In April True Story Magazine.)

PLAN OBSERVANCE

Central Christian Executive Board Makes Arrangements

Plans were made for the observance of the special Sundays during the month of March at the meeting of members of the executive board of Central Christian Sunday School, last night in the church parlors. A devotional service in charge of the pastor, Rev. George E. Groves, was followed by the business session.

Mar. 13 will be observed as "mother and daughter" Sunday, at which time the pastor will present an award to the mother and daughter bearing the greatest likeness to each other, and also to the mother having the largest number of daughters present. Mar 20 will be designated at 100 per cent Sunday when an effort will be made to have the total enrollment in attendance at the services. Four hundred Day will be observed Mar. 27.

Members of the Brotherhood Class, of which Harry Johnson is president announced a contest for new members which will start next Sunday. C. W. Swisher is captain of the "Sheep" and E. J. Hollandshead will captain the "Goats." Members of the losing team will banquet the winners at the close of the contest.

Announcement was made that the month of March would be designated as visitation month in preparation for the revival services which will begin next month.

THIRTY RESPOND WHEN ROLL CALL IS GIVEN

Thirty members responded to roll call at the meeting of the What So Ever Circle Kings Daughters, held last night at First Presbyterian Church with Mrs. I. C. Woggon and Mrs. Emma Voorhees as hostesses. Mrs. J. C. Turner gave an interesting paper.

Stabbed By Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this archfiend, commonly called "nerve inflammation." The first warning is usually a sharp, stabbing pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which troubles often do end in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pains or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poisons. Apply Tyzmol over the part that hurts and the pain will soon be gone.

Tyzmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Get a supply of Tyzmol at any good drug store. Price $1 everywhere.

VISITING PASTORS

Three Ministers Attend Nazarene Church Revival

Three visiting pastors were in attendance at the unusually well attended revival service last night at Nazarene Church. Rev. H. E. Williamson, pastor of Oakland Evangelical Church, accompanied by representatives of the church, Rev. Frank House of Cardington and Evangelist J. V. Cook of this city who left this morning to fill an engagement in Logan were among those in attendance. Seven converts were received at the altar.

A feature of the service was a duet, "I Want the Blessing" sung by Rev. Celia Bradshaw and Rev. Helena Sancholtz, evangelists at Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Rev. T. M. Anderson, evangelist in charge, chose as his text the passage, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," taken from John 8:30. He said in part, "Most of the false religions are based on misinterpretation of scripture but Christ has provided a remedy whereby we can be made free from sin. Nothing short of heart holiness will satisfy an honest soul, for it takes faith in the blood of Christ to get us free from the carnal mind. We do not get rid of inbred sin when we are converted, it takes the baptism of the holy ghost to cleanse the after we are converted." Reverend Williamson offered prayer.

CHAPTER FIFTY-NINE

...and inquired from a small ... my dungarees if I ... to the "patron."

"... there," said the small boy, ... to a big car, the engine of ... was gently ticking over. ... up to the car and found ... beside the engine a slightly ... counterpart of the boy. He was ... in a blue canvas suit, covered ... and grime.

... anxious to get to Geneva ... without any preliminary ... and I have just missed the ... Would it be possible for me ... in a car?"

... smiled me doubtfully. ... know Monsieur," he ... "it is pretty late and my chauf... is the only man who could ... has already done a long ... work."

"How much would you charge to take me ..." I asked.

"Nine francs fifty a kilometer," he ... "in a big car. I couldn't do ... for less and it's a good sixty-five ... miles from here."

"That would be ninety-seven francs fifty," I said, making a rapid mental ... on. "I'll give you one hundred and twenty five and the chauffeur ... for his trouble if he'll undertake the job."

The chauffeur appeared as I finished ... He was in a rather soiled ... and greasy with a peaked cap.

"I must be in Geneva by 11.30 at the latest," I added.

"Bien, Monsieur," said the "patron," and, turning to the chauffeur he informed him of my offer.

After a moment's conversation, the chauffeur turned to me.

"I will drive Monsieur to Geneva at once," he said.

I paid the money in advance, except the chauffeur's tip, and got inside the car. A moment later I was speeding down the road, the rain driving in one the side of the large open touring car, for I had refused to wait for the side curtains to be put up, in view of the delay. It was a good car, a Picard-Pictet, and the chauffeur urged on by the promise of an even larger reward if he got there before the appointed time, drove at a high speed.

After we had gone a short distance, I bent over and shouted in his ear.

"Can we possibly avoid going through Lausanne, it will take so long to go through the narrow streets."

My real reason for wishing to avoid the town, of course, was that I feared the police might already be on my track.

"Oh, yes, Monsieur, I can go through Ouchy, along by the lake," replied the man.

I sat back in the car, my mind considerably relieved, and enjoyed the cool night air laden with rain, as it blew in upon me. A warm exhilaration filled me at the thought of how well I had succeeded in evading the little Jew and the trap he had so carefully baited. He had evidently recognized me the moment he entered the compartment and he must have put his pocketbook in my pocket while I was asleep. I think this incident more than anything else in the whole of my adventure enabled me to realize the wariness of the gang of which the Center was the head. The coolness with which one of his comparatively smaller agents could, on the spur of the moment, carry out an audacious hoax was indeed remarkable. The Jew, though the police were his natural enemies, had not hesitated to use them in an emergency. Evidently he feared some sudden intervention on my part which might spoil the deal with Finckelstein. His object was to delay me, if only for a few hours, until he could warn his associates and arrange for the Center to deal with me at leisure.

My one regret was that I had been compelled to strike the train conductor, who, in circumstances had maintained great tact and dignity.

The car hummed and throbbed through the night, and it was exactly five minutes to eleven as we flashed past the lighted vista of the Kursaal, the starting point of all my strange experiences.

"Where shall I stop, Monsieur?" said the chauffeur.

"At the Central Police Bureau," I replied, "in the Hotel de Ville."

In less than ten minutes I was outside the building where Claypole and myself had been so inhospitably received a late week before. I paid off the man, giving him fifty francs for his trouble. The man went off highly pleased with himself and his evening's work.

I presented my card, together with Claypole's note, to a gendarme, and was ushered into a small, bare waiting room. In a very short time the official with the black mustaches entered the room. He received me in a very different manner from the last occasion on which we had met.

"I must apologize, Mr. Querter," he began at once, "for having seemed to doubt your bonafides on the first occasion on which we met, but you must admit that circumstances——"

"Quite so, quite so," I interrupted hastily. "I assure you I bear no malice Monsieur le Commissaire, but time presses, I think, and, so you see from Mr. Claypole's letter, he desires me to be present at the arrest you are to effect tonight."

"Certainly, Monsieur," he replied. "The police automobile will be taking us there in five minutes. The place has been under close observation since midday today. Meanwhile, may I offer you a glass of brandy."

"Thank you," I replied gratefully, for I felt somewhat wet and chilly after my sixty-five kilometer drive in the rain.

He touched a bell and a gendarme appeared.

"Brandy, please" said the Commissaire, "two glasses. You might also take Monsieur's hat and coat and dry them."

He turned to me.

"If you will give your coat to Jules," he said formally. Then he paused and stared at me with a puzzled expression. "You don't seem to have one."

"Nor a hat either," I laughed. "I left them in the train."

I told him of what had occurred between Basle and Lausanne.

"That," he said, when I had finished, "explains the telephone message which I received this evening, just before you arrived."

He handed me a slip of paper on which was written a somewhat vague account of myself, wanted for theft and assault, and stated to have disappeared from the Basle-Geneva express on the outskirts of Lausanne.

"I think we can put that little difficulty right," said the Commissaire smilingly, "though I am sorry you found it necessary to strike one of our officials."

"I regret it myself most sincerely," I said, "but it was unavoidable. If there is anything I can do to compensate him for the injury, I shall be only too glad to do so."

After a couple of glasses of an excellent fine brandy, the Commissaire lent me a hat and overcoat, and we started on our way to Cartigny.

We crossed the Rhone and turned down on the direction of Bellegarde, soon leaving the city behind us and emerging on to a long rolling plain which extended to the Jura Mountains.

During the run, I explained to the Commissaire the design of the Center to murder Finckelstein immediately he had obtained the contraband drugs, and I emphasized Claypole's danger. The official however, was inclined to make light of it, assuring me that the arrest would take place before the Center had a chance to carry out his plan.

FOR THE CORNERS

Soak one of the wooden meat skewers that come in roasts in water before starting to scrub the baseboard of the kitchen. It is invaluable when you come to the corners, as after digging it forms a stiff little brush on the end that fairly pries out the dirt. This same little brush is also handy when cleaning the obstinate corners of the roasting pan.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary Not Aware That Noel Veritzen Is To Be at the Dinner

EVEN though I knew that Dicky's pique at my not awakening when he spoke to me upon his departure after breakfast was responsible for his studied avoidance of a personal good-bye to me or, the telephone, yet my resentment could not help seizing upon Edith Fairfax as a whipping boy but one—alas! for the feeling of my grude — whom I could not chastise.

Dicky had made hurried trips out of town many times before, but never did he fail to tell me himself of his plans and ask for the bag which I always kept ready packed for his hurried journeys. It would have taken less than one minute of his time to speak to me after Edith had summoned me to the telephone, and I knew that the slight had been deliberate, all the more humiliating to me because Edith had been a witness of it—and I guessed a jubilant one.

But there was nothing I could do, save get the bag ready as he had asked, and when I had given it to Katie with the necessary directions, I plunged into my work with the knowledge that my resentment was less disturbing than my remorse over failing to detect Dicky's illness, an emotion, incidentally, which the consciousness of my husband's deliberate slight was fast banishing.

There was no time, however, for either introspection or retrospection in the days which followed Dicky's departure. I worked feverishly over my tasks for Philip Veritzen in order to have all the time possible for my father, who also arranged his hours of preparation for his voyage so that he might match every hour of my leisure with one of his own.

So absorbed was I indeed, that it was not until the very day of Lillian's dinner, ostensibly in honor of my father, but in reality to bring young Noel Veritzen into Mary Harrison's life that I remembered to tell my husband's young niece of the evening's engagement, guarding my speech from any slip which could apprise her of Noel's expected appearance. While one never could say Philip Veritzen's attractive young son I knew that she had been prejudiced against him by the cleverly woven tissue of half truth which Jack had spun the cap and cockroach of Dick's opprobrium, and young Veritzen's letter seems had told her. I did not wish her to guess that he was to be at the dinner for fear that she would not wish to go. But I found upon mentioning the dinner that she was not as enthusiastic as I had expected her to be over anything which would break the monotony of her routine of work and meals and sleep.

"It would be lovely," she said in the perfunctory tone with which one greets a proffered pleasure "but honestly Aunt Madge I'm so tired all the time I guess it's the Spring—that I think I'd rather go to sleep."

"Nonsense," I said briskly. "It's all work and no play which makes Mary not a dull girl but a sleepy one. It will do you good to get away from your room even for a few hours. Mrs Fairchild sent it on Friday night purposely because she knew you had no work on next night which could not be done on Saturday. And I'll promise to have you back home by 10 o'clock so that your conscience will be clear upon that agreement with Mr. Veritzen."

The quick color flashed into her cheeks and something odd, inscrutable peeped out of her eyes.

"I'm not worrying about that," she said. "I know you'll be responsible to him for my time if you take me out. It's just that I felt so tired. But I think you're right and it would do me good. I'll be very glad to go. What shall I wear?"

New Jersey Senator Angered by Failure of Wets' Support

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8—Congress adjourned with a rift a foot wide in the senate wet block here.

"Bah, what's the use!" cried Senator Edward I. Edwards, whose name is synonymous with wetness. "With out-and-out wets supporting dry measures, what chance do we ethers?"

EDWARD I. EDWARDS

Edwards referred to senators Walsh of Massachusetts and Copeland of New York, who had just voted for gag rule in the upper house, to force a ballot on the dry prohibition reorganization bill. He referred also to Senator Reed of Missouri, who being out of town didn't voted at all.

The New Jersey wet felt that Walsh and Copeland, as wets, too, ought to have voted the other way, and that Reed, another wet, ought to have made it his business to be on hand.

• • •

THE thing that especially enraged Edwards was the narrowness of the vote margin of victory.

It takes two thirds to gag the senate, and the drys had only exactly the necessary two-thirds—not a single vote to spare. If Copeland and Walsh had both voted dry, or if Reed had been present to vote wet, gag rule would have been beaten.

• • •

THUS many wets thought the reorganization bill would do prohibition no good.

Its purpose was to create a new bureau in the treasury department, to take exclusive charge of enforcement activities, so as to end all overlapping and conflicting of authorities.

Such wets as Walsh and Copeland said the new bureau could do no better than existing agencies, so why not let the drys have it?—to convince them, if possible, that prohibition's unenforceable, even with all the governmental machinery they want.

• • •

"BOSH!" answers Edwards. "That's just a half-hearted wet's excuse."

The Jersey senator goes so far, in fact, as to impute a selfish motive to Copeland, for voting as he did, and to Reed, for being absent at so critical a time.

In short, he says the wets were beaten because of New York and Missouri presidential booms.

• • •

THIS can imply only one thing. That Copeland, a booster for Gov. Al Smith of New York, was afraid to vote wet, lest he prejudice Al's presidential chances with the drys, that Reed was conveniently out of town, to avoid a possible puncture of his own White House boom by voting either way.

Plenty of politicians could be accused of straddling the wet-and-dry issue with no particular damage to their reputations, inasmuch as they faculty admit that's what they're doing, and don't care who knows it.

But Al Smith and Jim Reed aren't in this category.

If Al or Jim, wet as each of them always has proclaimed himself, is trying to carry water on both shoulders now, the only inference is that he'd be willing to do 'most anything for the presidency.

OF course Edwards' explanation of Copeland's vote and Reed's failure to cast one may be all wrong.

Nevertheless he had the nerve to give it out in unmistakable terms.

It hurts. It hurts Copeland on Al's account. It hurts Reed on his own. They're raring mad at Edwards.

"Sure they are," agrees the Jerseyite. "The shoe fits, you see."

CAR PARKED IN FRONT OF CHURCH IS STOLEN

A. A. Van Atta Reports Disappearance of Sedan to Police

While Arthur A. Van Atta, hardware merchant residing at 264 Bellefontaine-av, was attending a social event at Trinity Baptist Church, last night, his new automobile, a Diana straight eight sedan, purchased only a month ago, was stolen from its parking place in front of the church.

Mr. Van Atta left the car on the street at 7:30 and when he went to get it two hours later it was gone, he informed police. The machine carried license No. D 3-240.

Two auto thefts were reported to the local police department from nearby towns. A Cadillac sedan, license No. 77-791, was stolen in Mansfield and a 1926 Ford coupe, license No. 224-955, in Bucyrus. Both thefts occurred last night.

No Royal Road for New Executive of One of Largest Corporations in World—Standard of Indiana

Edward G. Seubert

CHICAGO, Mar. 8—From newsboy to president—it happens often enough in fiction, but it has happened in truth to Edward G. Seubert, who has just been elected to that office in one of the most powerful organizations in the world, the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

There was no royal road to success for Mr. Seubert. It was just a matter of hard work, nearly forty years of it, dating from the time he began as a newsboy in Syracuse, New York.

He first worked for the Standard Oil Co. as a mechanic, and he became, in turn, general clerk, cashier, member of the accounting department in the general offices here, chief clerk of the manufacturing department, assistant secretary and treasurer, secretary and treasurer, member of the board of directors, vice president, president.

A railroad messenger lad of Chicago's "roaring nineties" and a onetime as Mr. Seubert's appointment were named vice presidents at the same time as Mr. Seubert's appointment. They are Robert H. McElroy and Edward J. Bullock.

William M. Burton, the former president of the company, has retired, but will remain a member of the board.

The company has just reported net earnings of $55,028,764 for last year.

Fourth Place at Auto Exhibits Demonstrates Chrysler Growth

Overtakes 23 Other Manufacturers in Three Years of Company's Existence; Production Figures Increase From 32,000 Cars in 1924 to 172,000 Units in Year Just Closed.

When space allotment for the 1927 national automobile shows was announced, in which Chrysler earned fourth place, another milestone was passed by this company, in what is regarded as the most remarkable progress ever made by a motor car manufacturer.

A discerning public, appreciative of a new measure of performance, beauty and comfort, responded so liberally to the appeal of the Chrysler cars that successive years have found Chrysler rapidly and consistently moving upward in the scale of space allotments on the basis of sales.

In 1924 Chrysler exhibited in twenty-seventh place;

In 1925 Chrysler exhibited in eighteenth place;

In 1926 Chrysler exhibited in ninth place;

In 1927 Chrysler is exhibiting in fourth place.

Through the buying public's appreciation of automobile values and quality, Chrysler has been enabled to overtake and pass in volume of sales 23 other manufacturers in this short period of three years.

What this means in actual production is indicated by the figures for these past three years:

In 1924 Chrysler built and shipped 32,000 cars;

In 1925 Chrysler built and shipped 127,526 cars;

In 1926 Chrysler built and shipped more than 172,000 Chrysler vehicles, including the models "50," "60," "70" and Imperial "80."

Through the public press during the automobile show the Chrysler corporation is making acknowledgement of its sincere appreciation of this impressive indorsement of Chrysler quality, Chrysler value and Chrysler leadership.

In return for the confidence proclaimed by this record-breaking public preference, the company is pledging itself, with its increased and even more modern facilities, to an even stricter maintenance of the high integrity of its public service, and to a protection of the good will reposed in its unique manufacturing and engineering plan of "standardized quality."

Safe Now When Others Come Close!

The Secret of Keeping a Perspiring Body Sweet

Do you know why thousands of people who never have to take a laxative, do eat a candy cascaret now and then?

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascarize the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a cascaret only once a week is all the tonic they needed.

Cascara is splendid for children, too, and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every drugstore has for 10c and 25c.—Adv.

"ONE DANCE used to undo all my precautions for personal daintiness. All waste in my system seemed to come out through the pores. Today, I don't worry; I keep clean all through, with just occasional use of—

ANNOUNCING

Harry W. Haberman

Marion Chrysler Dealer

It is a genuine privilege and pleasure to announce that Mr. Harry W. Haberman has assumed Chrysler representation in Marion and the surrounding territory.

Mr. Harry W. Haberman has been prominently identified with the motor car industry a long time. Since 1915 Mr. Haberman has been engaged in the automobile business in Marion and it is of importance to note that his experience has embraced the sales and servicing of cars of costly character to the lowest priced.

His record of successful achievement speaks highly in his behalf to the Chrysler owners of this territory and to those about to purchase a Chrysler automobile.

And we feel that the Chrysler sales corporation and Chrysler owners in this territory are fortunate in having the Chrysler franchise entrusted to a man whose experience is so exceptionally broad and sound.

The building at 152 North Main St. formerly occupied by the Chrysler sales and service is now open—where all Chrysler owners in this section are assured of receiving the same fine service for which Mr. Harry W. Haberman has always been notable.

The Chrysler Price Range on different models extends from

$750 to $3595

BUS DEPOT IS PLANNED AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Newsstand Owner and Transportation Lines Merge Interests

Upper Sandusky, Mar. 8—Upper Sandusky will soon have a much needed bus depot. Plans are under way for the opening of a joint bus depot and new stand by Paul K. Stutzman, proprietor of the local news stand, and the three bus line operators that pass through this city.

The joint business will be located in the Henry Gamber room on N. Sandusky which has been occupied by the Goodman Ready-to-Wear store for the past 25 years. The new depot and news stand will be opened April 1. It will be in charge and will be assisted by Miss Ernestine Stephan who has been employed at the news stand for some time. The news stand will be moved from its present location which it has occupied since the fire of 1915.

The three bus lines operating through this city are the Maag Bros. Transit Co. from Marion to Findlay with connections for Columbus and Toledo, Wayne Rappold's line from Tiffin to Upper Sandusky with connections for Fremont and the W. A. Ward line operating to Upper Sandusky making connections both east and north for Mansfield and Sandusky.

Three lines will have a depot and waiting room with telephone service concerning information. Any freight to be handled will be taken care of at the depot until called for.

DAMAGE SUIT RESULT OF SHEEP PURCHASE

Action Filed in Marysville Court by Glenn Denny and Dell H. Green

Marysville, Mar. 8—A suit to recover damages amounting to $3,442.50 was filed yesterday in the Common Pleas court by Glenn Denny and Dell H. Green against Frank Dodge of Jerome Township. The plaintiffs operate a farm in Jerome and Millcreek Township and do business under the name of Denny & Green.

They state that on Oct. 6, 1926 they bought 115 sheep from Frank Dodge, guaranteeing them to be free from foot rot. Immediately afterward they found the sheep lame with the disease. Because of this the land was contaminated with the disease so that it will be impossible to raise sheep on the farm for a long time they aver. They ask for the return of the $1,092.50 paid for the sheep and for $2,000 damages for injury to the land. R. L. Cameron, of Marysville is attorney for the plaintiffs.

Pioneer Hardin County Man Celebrates 91st Birthday

KENTON, Mar. 8—Recalling the early days of Hardin County when this section of the state was for the most part heavy woodland abounding in wild game and Indians from the Wyandot tribe roamed about, J. A. Orth, pioneer resident, celebrated his 91st birthday anniversary at his home north of here.

Participating in the happy event were his children, Charles of Columbus, Fred of Luna, Jacob and William of Dunkirk, Edward of Iowa, and Mrs. J. R. Hendershott of Tecumseh, Mich.

Mr. Orth was born in Wayne County near Wooster, coming to Hardin County with his parents at the age of eight weeks. The trip was made in an ox wagon.

During his early youth most travelling was done with oxen since they could more easily be handled in penetrating the woods.

In Mr. Orth's boyhood wild animals abounded and there were many Indians. He interestingly tells how the Indians used to borrow his father's dogs to capture wounded deer and of how the animals refused to go unless accompanied by their master. Invariably the Indians would give the Orths a portion of the venison.

It was in 1830 that Mr. Orth's family came to this county. Then there were no roads, the country was a solid forest. Wood was so plentiful that the finest pieces of timber could be hardly given away. "There were no frame houses, only log cabins," says Mr. Orth. He recalls when the present site of the Hardin County courthouse was filled with stumps. In his early life towns were few and did not spring up until after the building of the Pennsylvania railroad through the northern section of the county in 1853.

The pioneer served during the Civil War and has the distinction of serving as one of the orderlies for General Sherman on the famous "march to the sea." Mr. Orth is enjoying good health and is still able to "wield an axe and trim the trees in his large orchard."

CONTEST IS SPONSORED BY GALION "SPY" STAFF

Theodore Schaefer, Mae Belle Fink, Essay, Poetry Winners

Galion, Mar. 8—The Literary Contest sponsored by the "Spy" staff of Galion High, has been closed and winners announced. It has been customary for a number of years to conduct a literary contest among school students and the winning articles published in the yearbook, "The Spy." The competition was this year limited to sophomores and juniors and many students responded with well written essays and poems. The subject of the essay was given as "How To Improve School Spirit in G. H. S." and the poem, any topic relating to school life or activities.

At a special chapel service presided over by staff members, Merritt McElroy, editor-in-chief of the "Spy," awarded Theodore Schaefer, popular junior musician and play cast member, the prize for the best written essay. Miss Mae Belle Fink, also a junior, was awarded the poetry prize.

Although the winners were given due recognition, the articles will not be published until the "Spys" are placed on sale in May.

The school levy given opposite each township, applies to all of the property of the township school district including the attached territory, formerly joint sub-districts, or other civil townships.

Treasurer's Office, Marion County, Ohio, March, 1926.

Mar. 3, 10, 12, 15, 17, 19. JAMES E. MESSENGER, County Treasurer.

SUGGESTIONS TO TAXPAYERS

Before leaving the Treasurer's Office, carefully examine your receipts to see that all of your property, both REAL and PERSONAL, is listed thereon. Remember that there are thousands of taxpayers in Marion County and that it is impossible for the Treasurer and his assistants to know what each person owns. If you have returned personal property to the auditor, be particularly careful to see if this appears on your receipt.

The customary dates for the collection of taxes at the various village banks throughout the county will be published later.

You are liable for the entire year's tax on personal property returned by you to the auditor on listing day, the second Monday of April, 1925. This holds good even though you may dispose of your property not later than one day after listing.

If desired, taxes may be paid in full on or before December 20, 1926. First half is due and payable on or before December 20, 1926, and the second half is due and payable on or before June 20, 1927. A penalty of 10 per cent. is charged on all delinquent Real Estate and 10 per cent. on all delinquent Personal property; these penalties do not belong to the Treasurer and can not be remitted. Those owing last June taxes are delinquent, and must pay not later than December 20, 1926.

Some taxpayers have been in the habit of paying the December tax and the preceding June tax together, thinking they are paying a full year's tax. All such are paying the last half of one year's tax, and the first half of the following year's tax and thus paying 10 per cent. penalty on the preceding tax. The proper way to pay a full year's tax without penalty, is to pay in December for December and the following June.

When making up letter for the amount of your taxes, designate your property clearly, in what township, section and number of acres, what lands, number of lot. Send money by New York draft, post office money order, registered letter or express prepaid.

Payment of taxes with any commodity other than "Legal Tender" is by courtesy of the treasurer only. When checks are received for taxes and not paid on presentation, taxes will be restored to duplicate without further notice.

In asking for statement remember that property stands on the Treasurer's books in name of owner on April 10, 1926, and that the Treasurer's duplicates cannot be changed after that date.

Arrangements will be made to accommodate parties paying taxes. Tax-payers are urgently requested to call early and pay their taxes and thus avoid the rush. Effort

Harding High is Sensation in Class A Division of Delaware Tourney

Harding High is the sensation of the Class A division in the Central Ohio basketball tournament at Delaware. The tourney started last Friday, continued through Saturday, and semi-finals and finals will be played next Friday and Saturday.

Harding stepped into action in the first round Friday night against Columbus Central with everything to win and nothing to lose. The Marion lads had tough luck all season and made a poor showing in the North Central Ohio league. They were slated to go down before the onslaught of Central in an overwhelming defeat. Central was considered the strongest team in the tourney with the possible exception of Lancaster.

Harding, expected to be the weakest team in the meet, was crowned with glory as it came through with flying colors and defeated Central by a narrow margin of two points.

Even then Mt. Vernon did not realize what it was up against when it took the floor against the Hardingites Saturday afternoon. Flushed with success after their victory over Columbus East, the orange and black crew received a great set back and saw their hopes of entering the semi-finals go glimmering when Marion continued on its rampage. The local high school basketeers won 23 to 9.

Still Dazed

Even the most ardent of Harding fans still are shaking their heads and wondering just how it all happened. It is indeed hard to believe that the Marionites have won two games in the tourney and are going into the semi-finals after being hailed as the weakest outfit entered in the Class A division.

And how did they do it?

They fought. It was a perfect exhibition of just what a scrappy basketball team can accompolish. The local lads were on their toes all the way. They played with dazzling speed and run rings around their opponents at times. They were determined to win and simply could not be whipped.

We all know what happened when the Hardingites slacked their speed in the third quarter of the Central game. It looked like a rout trimming for Marion. Central scored 11 points while the local school made one. And, again, we also are familiar with what occurred in the final period, when the scrappy basketeers again stepped into their own in the last quarter. Marion scored 10 points while Central made two.

Meet Lancaster

At 7 o'clock, Friday night, Harding High will meet Lancaster in the semi-finals on the hardwood court of Edwards Gym, Delaware. Lancaster, the pride of Fairfield County, is picked as the winner of the tournament. It is, without a doubt, equipped with the greatest combination seen in the Delaware tournament this season. Lancaster drew a bye in the first round and Saturday defeated Circleville, 32 to 15, in the second round.

Despite the showing the local cagers have made so far at Delaware, tournament fans give us the odds and many of them to Lancaster. Lancaster comes to the tourney with the greatest reputation of any team in the southeastern portion of the state. It has suffered only one defeat this season and that came at the hands of Cambridge on the small floor of the latter quintet.

Yet, we are optimistic.

Harding Will Win

If Harding High goes into the Lancaster game like it stepped into the Central and Mt. Vernon contests, it will win, despite all the odds in its opponents favor. Playing the super basketball displayed in the first two rounds, Marion cannot fall Friday night, regardless of the wonderful reputation of the Lancaster outfit.

Harding's first two games were not the result of lucky breaks. The Marion cagers simply outplayed their highly touted foes. They battled from start to finish. It was their fighting spirit that revolutionized the tournament and if they keep that spirit Marion will greet the champions of the Class A division here late Saturday and Harding will journey to the cage basketball meet at Columbus Mar. 12.

TRAINING CAMP CHATTER

Orlando, Fla., Mar. 8—Heartened by news that Bubbles Hargrave had signed, and the arrival in camp of Wally Pipp, the Red regulars trounced the Yannigans 10 to 3 in a full nine inning game and were all set for the first real practice clash this afternoon with the Cleveland Indians.

* * *

Lakeland, Fla., Mar. 8—Sherrod Smith, left handed hurler for the Cleveland Indians last season, is expected to sign a 1927 contract with the tribe today. He has been holding out for higher salary but has decided to join the team making the trip to Orlando today where two games are scheduled with the Cincinnati Reds—one today and one tomorrow.

* * *

SARASOTA, FLA., MAR. 8—HAVING SLAUGHTERED THE ST. LOUIS BROWNS 13 TO 1, THE GIANTS TODAY PLAY AN EXHIBITION GAME WITH THE ATHLETICS. HORNSBY LED THE HITTERS WITH TWO DOUBLES AND A SINGLE WHILE "BEVO" LEBOURVEAU POLED A HOMER AND A SINGLE IN HIS DEBUT WITH THE GIANTS.

* * *

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 8—The Yankees were to play their first practice game of the season today. Herman Ruth, the noted financier, got into a uniform yesterday and immediately lifted three new baseballs into the right field swamp. Three regulars—Meusel, Combs and Pennock—have not yet reported.

* * *

Clearwater, Fla., Mar. 8—Old Bill Doak, the bald-headed spitball pitcher who is essaying a comeback with the Brooklyn Robins, is proving that there's still life in the old soup bone. In his initial workout, Doak retired seven men with only one hit.

ADD TRAINING CAMP

TAMPA, FLA., MAR. 8 — THE SENATORS WERE SEEKING REVENGE TODAY ON THE BRAVES FOR THE TRIMMING ADMINISTERED SATURDAY. TRIS SPEAKER WAS DUE TO BREAK INTO THE LINE-UP OF THE NATS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN TODAY'S GAME. ROOKIES WILL DO THE PITCHING ON BOTH SIDES.

Avon Park, Fla., Mar. 8—The University of Florida nine invaded the Cardinal camp today to play the regulars. The same line-up, with the exception of the battery, that downed the recruits yesterday 10 to 1, will face the collegians.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., Mar. 8—Smarting under the stinging defeat which the Giants handed them, the St. Louis Browns were to meet the Buffalo Club of the International League here today. New York won yesterday's game 13 to 1.

FASTEST GRID GAME

The fastest football in the world is played in Italy.

MIDGETS PLAY

Will Travel to Prospect For Game With High School Reserves

The Midgets will travel to Prospect tonight to meet the fast going Prospect High reserves on the high school floor. Each team has been traveling along at a nice speed this season. The Midgets have won 12 out of 13 starts.

Eddie Sawyer, former Midget captain and forward on the Galion High School quintet, will again appear in the Midget's lineup tonight but the local quintet will use its regular lineup at the start of the game.

BAPTISTS TO MEET TOUGH FOE TONIGHT

Will Take on Trinity Lutherans in Intermediate Church League Game

Trinity Baptists, as yet undefeated in the Intermediate Sunday School basketball league, will have probably the toughest battle of the season tonight when they meet the Trinity Lutherans on the Y. M. C. A. court in the last game on the program.

The Baptists have won 10 straights and have earned the right to compete in the district church league tournament at Tiffin within the next two weeks. The Lutherans, equipped with Williams at center tonight, will give the league leaders the battle of the year. Williams is probably the best center in the league. The Lutherans have won five and lost five so far this season.

The first game tonight will be the Calvary Evangelical-Epworth M. E. clash. The Evangelicals have won only a few games in the Intermediate league this season and are about due for a comeback. Epworth cagers are in second place.

United Brethren will play the Presbyterians in the second game tonight. The Presbyterians are in the cellar but have been going hot during the last few weeks. United Brethren are in third place and all set to step a little higher.

The first game will be called at 7:15 tonight on the upper gym court of the Y. M. C. A.

McNAMARA-GEORGETTI LEAD

New York, Mar. 8—At nine o'clock this morning the McNamara-Georgetti combination was leading the field in the six-day bicycle race, having covered 612 miles and nine laps and made 33 points. Four laps behind, Horder and McBeath trailed along a poor second, with Beckman and Petri in third place, a lap behind Horder and McBeath. The rest of the field was closely bunched.

Y. M. C. A. TOURNEY

England, Sweden, Norway, Rumania and probably Canada are to be represented at the Y. M. C. A. international sports tournament to be held in Copenhagen next July.

GAINS POPULARITY

In continental Europe football has gained so in popularity during the past few years that an attendance of 35,000 to 40,000 is nothing unusual at games in Paris, Amsterdam, Madrid, Milan, and various other cities.

"Newcomers" Just Coming Back

By NORMAN E. BROWN

THE major league clubs took their usual toll in playing material from the minor league over the winter season, but despite this fact there are few real strangers in the camps of the big time teams this spring. For most of the stars called by the major moguls have been up before for brief tryouts at least and are merely coming back for another whirl. And some of them are coming back for their second childhood, so to speak.

Statistics show that of the 23 players grabbed by the big league clubs from the American Association only five are real "babes in the woods." And of the 28 stepping up from the International only a handful are getting their first trip to the bigger diamonds.

Two of the real "first time out" stars grabbed from the A. A. are none other than "Pete" Branom, star shortstop obtained from Kansas City, and Fritz Shulte, the energetic outfielder for whose services the Browns paid Milwaukee something like $100,000 in stage or real money.

Another is English a young shortstop purchased from Toledo by the Cubs.

Some of the "old timers", or "repeaters" include such elevator addicts as Clark Pittenger of the Red Sox, Cubs and several other clubs, who goes now from Louisville to the Reds.

And Grover Hatley, great old campaigner, lately with the Giants, who grabbed on with the Indianapolis club last summer and now wears a hopeful Red Sox uniform.

Al DeVormer, who once pined away on the bench most of the time while drawing pay as a catcher with the Yanks, is now a Giant, going up from Louisville during the winter.

Del Bissonette, the big first baseman grabbed by the Dodgers from Jersey City, has been given several tryouts.

Lafayette Thompson, once the sensation of the Pirate team and destined to take a place in the Pittsburgh sun (if it ever came out), is now a Philly, due to that midwinter trade McGraw pulled off with the Phils and Dodgers and Buffalo team.

"Dutch" Henry, with many of the attributes of the average southpaw, is a Giant now. The Dodgers let him drift to Indianapolis depite his executive ability and willingness to guide any ball club to which he belonged.

If the past winter may be taken as a sample of what the minors produce these days the picking must be slim for the big league scouts. At least virgin ivory seems to be scarce.

Michigan Beats Iowa to Cinch Big Ten Cage Title

Chicago, Mar. 8—The coveted Big Ten basketball championship, clean cut and unshared, was the treasured possession of the University of Michigan today.

The Wolverines put the title definitely on ice at Ann Arbor last night by defeating Iowa in Michigan's final game of the season. The score was 31 to 29. This means that Michigan, no matter what other teams may do in their final games, will hold, unshared, honors to first position in the final standings.

If Iowa had defeated the Wolverines, Indiana and Purdue, by winning their remaining games could have tied Michigan. Purdue played against Northwestern last night and the Boilermakers proved they were anxious for a tie by defeating the Purple, 45 to 36.

The Michigan-Iowa game was the most thrilling of the entire season, according to reports. Michigan came from behind to win, chiefly as a result of the sensational basket-shooting of Capt. Chambers. At the close of the regular period, the teams were deadlocked at 27 all.

In the five minute overtime period, Capt. Chambers got the range on the basket and dumped through the winning markers.

FOUR-BALL GOLF MEET REACHES SEMI-FINALS

Miami, Fla., Mar. 8—The international four-ball golf tournament here reached the semi-finals today with the term of Armour-Cruickshank meeting the combination of Espinosa-Sarazen, while Mehlhorn and Burke battle Hagen and Hutchison.

Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank entered the semi-finals by defeating Harry Hampton and Clarence Hackney in the second round; Al Espinosa and Sarazen trimmed Willie Klein and Charlie Murray; Bill Mehlhorn and Bull Burke won from Carberry and Boyd and Walter Hagen and Jock Hutchison defeated Mike Brady and Cyril Walker.

FREAK CAR

The famous racing car with which Captain Malcolm Campbell has shattered numerous automobile records cost nearly $50,000, and it took several mechanics two years and a half to put the car together. The gear box alone cost over $5,000 and the tires $100 each.

DEVISED PROTECTOR

Charlie Bennett, the old-time National League catcher who passed away recently at his home in Detroit, is generally credited with having devised the first chest protector used in baseball.

Isaly Dairies and Midways to Meet on Aquinas Court at Columbus Wednesday

The largest group of Marion basketball fans ever to assemble at a State Journal Central Ohio Basketball tournament is expected to be on hand in the Aquinas High School gym at 9 o'clock, Wednesday night, when Isaly Dairies and Midway Lunches meet in the first round of the meet.

For the first time, Marion this year is represented by two teams in the tourney at Columbus. The Dairies won the championship last year. As a result of the drawing last Thursday night, the two representatives of this city will meet in the first battle.

The game is exciting almost as much interest in local basketball circles as did the Steam Shovel-Dairy series. The Midways have never met the Dairies and have, in fact, been playing and practicing in conjunction with them. During the first of the season, the two teams were managed by the same manager. Johnny Merkle is now acting manager of the Midways with George Paulson general manager.

The Dairies are doped to win the game. They have met stronger teams all season than have the Midways. They have been playing in the main rounds while the Midways have had to be content with the preliminaries to the Isaly games. The player are more experienced and have even won the championship in the tourney on one occasion.

Still Hope

Still the ardent Midway fans hold that the Lunch crew may come through with a victory. The Midway quintet is composed of former Harding High stars with Johnny Merkle, St. Mary's stellar center last year, in the pivot position. The men have displayed excellent team work in many games this season with the timely basket shooting of Geissler and Art Yazel. Both of Geissler and Art Yazel featured their games.

It is not yet known what team the winner of the Isaly-Midway game will play in the second round. There are a large number of semi-pro quints entered in the tournament and some action is expected at all times. The tourney starts Tuesday night and will continue for about two weeks.

EDS AND LINOS DIVIDE HONORS IN PIN MATCH

Remain Tied for First Place in Star Bowling League as Result

The Linotypists and Editorials today remained in a deadlock for first honors in the Marion Star Bowling league as a result of an even break in the regular games held last night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys. The Eds won the first game 671 to 634 and the Linos took the second tilt 725 to 645.

Buchanan was high scorer for the Eds with 161 points in the first game while Thomas led the Linos with 181 points.

Play in Business Men's Group To Get Under Way Wednesday Night

Another business men's volleyball league has been formed at the Y. M. C. A. by F. O. Rudolph, physical director, it was announced today. Play will be started Wednesday night.

The league consists of six teams, captained by George Hildebrandt, W. C. Brown, John H. Clark, T. M. Cunningham, Dr. Frank V. Murphy and Clyde Coulter.

The first game will be called at 5:15 Wednesday night on the upper court. Coulter will meet Clark's team. Hildebrandt will clash with Murphy on the lower floor at 5:30 o'clock. Brown will meet Cunningham on the upper floor at 5:45 o'clock.

CHICAGO INFIELD INTACT

Shreveport, La., Mar. 8—Roger Peckinpaugh and Aaron Ward, infielders, joined the White Sox today. Manager Ray Schalk now has his regular infield intact.

ANNOUNCE CHANGE IN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

C., D. & M. Will Bowl Y-Indus Wednesday Night on Y. M. C. A. Alleys

A change in the schedule as listed on the regular cards in the Industrial Bowling League was announced today by Ed Meredith, manager of the Y. M. C. A. bowling alleys.

The C., D. & M. will roll against the Y-Indus and Logan Gasmen will take on the Huber Manufacturing Co. bowlers Wednesday night. Postoffice and Anthony Laundrymen will oppose each other on the alleys Thursday night as will the American Expressmen and Marion County Lumber rollers.

The Marion Star bowlers will stack up against the Marion Steam Shovels and the Displaymen will meet the Pennsy and Hocking Valley railroaders on Friday night.

HOPPE AGAIN LOSES

World's Billiard King Is Going Down in 18.2 Balkline Tourney

Washington, Mar. 8—Any doubt that Willie Hoppe, for years the world's billiard king, has begun to travel the road of all champions was dispelled today. Hoppe suffered another defeat in the 18.2 balkline tournament here bowing this time to Edouard Horemans, the Belgian, 400 to 233. Felix Grange, France, defeated K. Matsuyama, Japan, 400 to 194.

Hoppe meets Jake Schaefer today, while Grange takes on Welker Cochran.

HUFFMAN VS. RISKO

New York, Mar. 8—Sailor Eddie Huffman of the Pacific Coast will take on Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, in a ten-round bout here tonight. Both fighters have won a good-sized following in the east.

BOWLING TOURNEY TO OPEN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

One Hundred Ninety-Five Cities Represented in International Event

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 8—With 195 cities represented, the twenty-seventh annual of the International Tournament of the American Bowling Congress will be opened for five-weeks' play here tomorrow night.

None but local bowlers will appear on the drives Wednesday and Thursday nights. Friday will witness the first influx of out-of-town ten pin talent and from then until the closing date, April 11, some 7,000 pinsters will vie for the four international championships and prize money totalling $67,500.

There are 1,452 five-men teams, 3,2[illegible] two-men teams and 6,498 individuals entered in the chase for money and laurels. All champions of 1926 are entered. Railway Service Trims Commercials in Final Round

Final Score of Thrilling Cage Battle is 21 to 19; Hubers Defeat Collegians

C. D. & M. Quintet Easily Trounces Five-Man Combination of Osgoods and Fairfield Engineers; Games Close Marion Industrial Basketball League Season

By EDDIE SCHOENLER
Sports Editor, The Star

Railway Service basketball team is sweet! Members of the Railway Service basketball team are witness to that statement. Last night the Service basketeers trimmed the Commercials for the championship this season and incidentally took possession of second place in the Industrial League as the season closed. The final score was 21 to 19.

The score standing 18 to 17 in favor of the Railwaymen, Jonsson dropped a free throw through the hoop for a point registered in the last two minutes of play. Yazel of Commercials tied the count at 19 all and it remained for K. O. Kunkler to crown the Railwaymen with glory and bring the Service team to the top by caging a wild one from the extreme southeast corner of the court in the last minute. It was one of those shots that you read about but seldom see.

At any rate, it served the purpose, and the Railway Service lads are occupying the berth next to the title winning C. D. & M. men. It was the first round of the season. Eleven of the Service points were made on free throws while Commercials connected for seven charity markers. The game was played under professional rules and Ray King of Ohio Wesleyan, had the time of his life blowing his whistle and penalizing out the guilty foul makers.

Hubers Win

The Marion Business College closed the season in the cellar position. They took a firm hold on that lowly berth last night when Hubers won the battle staged in the final round to decide just who should occupy the place at the bottom of the league. The score was 26 to 15.

The five-man combination of the best players from Fairfield Engineers and Osgoods did not work so well last night and the C., D. & M. again won an Industrial League game. The score was 24 to 11.

The first half was a battle royal with no field goals being recorded for either side until the game was eight minutes old. The Engineers and Osgoods were leading 3 to 0 at one time but were trailing 8 to 7 at the end of the half. The electricians ran wild in the second period and ruined all hopes of spectators who came to see the title winner get knocked off in the final round.

Miley High Scorer

Miley of Hubers was high scorer in the games last night. He made 12 of the Huber team's 26 counters. Minard was close behind with 10 of the C., D. & M. points. Geissler made nine of the Commercials' counters and Merkle was credited with two field goals and four free throws for eight of the Service markers. Lingo was high scorer for the Fairfields and Osgoods, making eight points. Kearn made seven for the Marion Business College.

To Repeat With Dempsey and Tunney Match, Rumor

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Mar. 8—Backstairs gossip, persisting these many months, broke out afresh today concerning an alleged plan by Tex Rickard to repeat with Tunney and Dempsey for the heavyweight championship in September, regardless of what may transpire, if anything, during the course of the promoter's heavyweight tournament. The story first saw the light of day when Rickard began matching Maloney with the Dieners, De Kubs, Persons and what not, it being the contention then that Dempsey would step in when all other contenders had thoroughly eliminated themselves.

The situation has altered in the meantime but the contention hasn't. Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney alone remain as plausible candidates and now they say that this pair will manage to get rid of each other when they meet some time the latter part of May.

The big idea here is that Maloney and Sharkey, lacking a real punch, naturally will flounder through fifteen rounds, causing the populace to become very distrait. In consequence, it will go away from there, thinking of Dempsey as the man he once was.

Off hand, I would say that if Rickard ever entertained any plan of this kind, he was taking plenty for granted and that sort of thing is not the old boy's motif. Suppose, for example, Sharkey knocked Maloney over in the first minute of play, or vice versa. Rickard then would have a first class challenger on his hands and all his alleged plans for Dempsey couldn't get rid of the gent.

Rickard today was in receipt of a telegram from Dempsey in which the ex-champ stated that he no longer was troubled by blood poisoning in his arm and that he would "get to work right away." He informed the promoter that he would reveal his plans in greater detail within a few days. It is evident that Jack and the promoter have some sort of an understanding. It remains to be seen whether Dempsey will make a belated entry into Rickard's elimination tournament, or hold off for a match with Tunney.

MYERS STILL CHAMP

Scores Victory Over Greek Wrestler, Jim Logas, at Chicago

Chicago, Mar. 8—Johnny Meyers was still middleweight wrestling champion of the world today, following his victory over Jim Logas, Greek challanger, here last night.

Logas won the first fall in 46:32 with a headlock. Meyers took the second fall in 7:45 with a reversed headlock and then copped the deciding fall in 40 seconds with the same grip.

Lou Talaber, former middleweight champion, pinned Charles Lehman of Salt Lake City to the mat in 27:57 in the semi-windup event. Talaber used a reversed wrist lock.

BRADLEY DRUGS DEFEAT BUICKS TWO GAMES

Take Firmer Hold on First Place in National Bowling League

Bradley Drugs last night won two out of three games in the bowling match with Marion Buicks and gained a firmer hold on first place in the National League as a result. Another match scheduled for last night was postponed.

A. Baldauf rolled 212 in the first game for the Drugs and Wheeler and Williams were tied for high honors on the Buicks, each rolling 195 in a single game.

Central Christians and First Reforms Again Win in Junior Church League

Christians Defeat Epworths and Reforms Nose Out Fighting Baptist Outfit on Y. M. C. A. Gym Court; Two Winning Teams Lead League with One Defeat Each

Central Christians and First Reforms continued on their winning rampage last night in the Junior Sunday School basketball league when they defeated Epworth and Baptista respectively.

The Christians had little difficulty with the Epworth quintet. They won 32 to 26. But the Reforms narrowly escaped suffering their second defeat of the season when the Baptists came within two points of tieing the score in the last two minutes of play.

With the score standing 24 to 18 for Reforms, Merchant, Baptist left guard, cut loose with two field goals in rapid succession and seriously threatened to tie the count. He was brought to a stop by the final whistle.

Artepous was high scorer for Epworths with five field goals and a free throw for 11 of the points scored by his team. Gillis made 17 of the 32 points credited the Central Christians. Reform points were almost equally divided while Hinklin was the shining light among the Baptists with 11 counters.

P.A.

and a pipe
—that's my dish!

I COULDN'T ask for more. Prince Albert gives me everything I want in a smoke. It is fragrant, delightfully fragrant . . . both in the tidy red tin, and as I smoke it in my old jimmy-pipe. It is cool and sweet as an orange just off the ice. Refreshing!

If there's one thing more than any other which I like about this grand old tobacco, it is its mildness . . . mildness that is balanced, however, by a full, rich body that satisfies my smoke-taste all the way down. It was this rare combination of mildness and tobacco-body that won me to P. A. right off the bat.

I can't give you the complete picture, for taste is a thing that must be experienced. But I feel so sure that you will enjoy P. A. as you never enjoyed any other tobacco, that I am telling you, here and now, to buy a tidy red tin and get started. You can't lose, Men.

Thousands of pipe-smokers who thought they were all set have taken similar advice. They've agreed that it was worth the experiment. Today they are among the millions of P. A. regulars . . . the most contented bunch of pipe-smokers in the world. Come on in—the smoking's fine.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

THREE BOUND OVER TO JURY IN BOND THEFT

Fourth Person Involved Pleads Not Guilty: Hearing Set for Wednesday

Four youthful prisoners, accused of being implicated in the theft of $250 in Liberty bonds from George Adams, proprietor of a grocery at Silver and Senate-sts, were arraigned in Municipal Court this morning. Three pleaded guilty and were bound over to the grand jury and the fourth, entering a not guilty plea, is scheduled for a hearing before Municipal Judge Martin, Wednesday afternoon.

Although these proceedings apparently clear up the mystery of the theft, the bonds have not been recovered and authorities are continuing their investigation.

William Adams, 18, of 428 Avondale-av, son of the theft victim, admitted being primarily responsible in the bond transaction. He pleaded guilty after stating that he had taken the securities from his home and turned them over to Fred Lamb, 25, and his wife, Mabel Lamb, 19, of 140½ N. Main-st. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb and Miss Marguerite Heisel, 18, also of 140½ N. Main-st, are said to have attempted to negotiate sale of the bonds.

Plead Guilty

Young Adams pleaded guilty to a larceny charge when arraigned before Municipal Judge Martin this morning and Mrs. Lamb and Miss Heisel entered similar pleas to the charge of receiving stolen property.

In binding the three over the grand jury, Judge Martin fixed their bonds at $1,000 each. Thus far they have been unable to furnish the bonds.

Lamb pleaded not guilty in spite of the fact that his alleged accomplices admitted their guilt.

Miss Heisel is a stepdaughter of Joseph Vowells, who was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse, yesterday, for cruelty to children. He was charged with forcing his younger step-children to remain in unheated rooms after he had turned out the gas fires.

GETS TERM FOR LEAVING CHILDREN WITHOUT HEAT

Joseph Vowells, 35, Sent to Dayton Workhouse for 30 Days

Joseph Vowells, 35, of 140½ N. Main-st, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of cruelty to children filed against him by officers o fthe Marion County Humane Society and was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse.

Vowells, according to the report received by the court, turned off the gas fires in his residence apartments and left his two small step children in the unheated rooms. Neighbors filed a complaint and arrest of Vowells followed.

George Miller, 26, of Oak-st, is held at the city prison while authorities are considering filing similar charges against him.

Miller was arrested after his three children, aged, three, four and seven, are said to have been found poorly clad wandering along W. Center-st, several blocks from the Miller home on Oak-st.

GETS LAWYERS' MONEY WITH HIDDEN GOLD STORY

Escaped Cellmate of George Remus Admits Collection of $50,000

Chicago, Mar. 8—The "Spanish Prisoner" means of raising money from the credulous has a new rival, "the Georgue Remus Hidden Gold Game" and it works so well that some 50 lawyers today are wondering how they happened to part with their money.

Robert A. Schultes, 40, an escape from Atlantic Federal penitentiary today from his jail cell admitted he collected from $50,000 to $75,000 on his story that Remus had $1,000,000 in gold hidden in New York.

"I told them the federal officers were hot on my trial," said Schultes. "I said I needed money to get to Canada and from there I promised to send detailed information."

Schultes and Remus the well known "master mind" bootlegger were cellmates in Atlanta penitentiary. Beyond that authorities believe their intimacy was slight. Schultes escaped after serving three years of a five-year term for robbing the mails. He will be returned to Georgia immediately.

OPEN MEETING PLANNED BY KOSCIUSKO LODGE

Plans for an open meeting to be held in Kosciusko Hall, N. Main-st, Mar. 15 were made at the meeting of members of Kosciusko Lodge No. 58 held last night in the hall. Members of the Mizpah Encampment of that lodge have announced their intention of presenting a pageant at that time.

JUDGE UPHOLDS DEFENSE OBJECTION TO EVIDENCE

Senate Committee Record Testimony Boundary Line in Sinclair Trial

Washington, Mar. 8—The government lost the first skirmish in the trial of Harry F. Sinclair for contempt of the senate today when Justice William Hitz in District of Columbia Supreme Court sustained defense objections to an attempt to go beyond the senate oil committee's record for evidence relative to the circumstances under which the multi-millionaire oil magnate refused in 1924 to answer certain questions of the senate investigations.

Action in the case was precipitated by the refusal of Sinclair to answer questions bearing upon his leasing negotiations with former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall before the senate investigating committee in 1924. It is one of seven legal proceedings arising out of the probe of leasing policies in the Harding administration. Conviction would carry a penalty of one year imprisonment, or a fine of $100 to $1,000.

Section 102 of the Federal Statutes, under which Sinclair was indicted makes refusal to answer a congressional committee a misdemeanor rather than a felony.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon, in the opening statement for the prosecution today reviewed for the jury the history of Naval Petroleum Reserves from the original reserve legislation in 1912, introducing again the contracts which transferred the Teapot Dome (Wyoming) and Elk Hill (Calif), reserves to Sinclair and Doheny interests, respectively.

BENEDICT CASE

Killits Would Unite Goodyear Defendants with F. A. Seiberling

Toledo, Mar. 8—Federal Judge Killits today will call upon attorneys to argue for and against a proposal of his own making, to join all suing stockholders as defendants with F. E. Seiberling, in the suit brought against the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. by Mrs. Catherine Benedict.

The judge indicated that if all are drawn into the litigation here, a general injunction, halting the process of all suits until the Benedict case is completed may be issued.

Attorneys for Seiberling will seek to prevent the addition of other litigants as defendants in the Benedict case.

WEST PALM BEACH BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS TODAY

West Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 8—The First American Bank here closed its doors today, an announcement by the directors stating the institution was solvent but that it was closed for the protection of depositors.

Approximately $10,000,000 in deposits had been withdrawn in a few months because of financial unrest following the closing of other banks in this vicinity, it was stated.

MISS MARTHA JANE COOK NAMED LEGION SECRETARY

Miss Martha Jane Cook was elected secretary of the Florence Richards Loyal Temperance Legion at a meeting held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Fritch, 921 Bennett-st. Miss Helen Engle was elected assistant secretary; Earl Polson, narcotic superintendent, Miss Bonnie Lawrence, devotional superintendent, and Burl Fritch, mercy superintendent. The program opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful," 15 members having responded to roll call. Miss Martha Jane Cook conducted devotionals. The driver halted and Romohr got his ride. Today he is scheduled to appear in police court on a charge of intoxication — because he hailed the patrol wagon.

Easy to check Catarrh NOW!

Many endure catarrh because they do not know how easy it is to end it. Salves and ointments give only temporary relief. Catarrh is too deep-seated for them to reach effectively.

To end catarrh you must treat the inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. When these are again in a healthy condition, catarrh, and catarrhal deafness disappear.

To do this use Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Thousands have found it most effective for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

MONCADO'S TERMS HINGE ON AMERICAN ATTITUDE

Nicaraguan Liberalist Wants Assurances of Fair Election in Year and Half

Washington, Mar. 8—Gen. Jose Moncado, leader of the Liberal revolutionists in Nicaragua, is willing to lay down his arms and support any government sponsored by the United States except that of President Diaz, for a period of 18 months, in return for American assurances of a fair election at the end of that time, the state department was advised in a report from Minister Eberhardt today.

Gen. Moncado refuses to treat directly with the Diaz government, Eberhardt reported, and threatens to launch an immediate offensive unless there is action on his terms.

BREAK IN LIBERAL FORCES EXPECTED

Managua, Nicaragua, Mar. 8 — A break in the alignment of the Liberal forces of Dr. Juan Sacasa, through pressure exerted by United States his chief, Dr. Sacasa.

The consensus among Americans here is that this is a gesture intended to permit Dr. Sacasa to save his face by preserving the appearance of liberal unity and subordination. But should Sacasa order a continuance of the struggle it is expected that Moncado would open negotiations independently of Sacasa through Minister Eberhardt.

Eberhardt is prepared to offer his good offices in arranging for the Liberal General Moncada to step down before making a definite move.

The Liberal commissioners who have returned to Managua after holding a conference with General Moncada and General Chamorro, Nicaragua's minister of war, reported that General Moncada is anxious to terminate the conflict by negotiating negotiations with the conservative forces of President Diaz through Minister Eberhardt, but is desirous first of securing the approval of

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...day was Tuesday. It rained so ... seemed like every time me and ... would wake up last night the ... was rolling around on top of ... so, and I remembered that I ... said my prayer for quite a ... I got up and saidt it, and ... lightning would flash I could ... standing up in the middle ... looking at me. And I ... it and get him by the foot ... him out of bed, and we ... over on the floor and all ... jerked away and went un... bed, and I knew someone was ... so I popped into bed, and the ... my mother came in and ... me if I was all right. I said, ... And she said she heard ... that made her afraid. I had ... struck he lightning and knocked ... bed. So then I told her I had ... out of bed to say my prayer, and ... went downstairs. ... again and said, ... Jubilee got back ... I went to sleep. ... the bunch had ... and I ... milked the cow and ... and fed the horse, and fed ... and swiped some pancakes for ... we went down to take a look ... pond and it was so full it was ... level with the top of the dam, and there was a lot of ice in it, so we opened up the water-gate, and while we were watching it run out Mealy and Spider Gutwaltz, and Feeble and Younuss and Maggie came running down to see what we were doing. And Mealy didn't watch where she was going and she was straddling down the hill to get there before anyone else, and she stepped on a place where it was yellow clay, and it was soaked so it was like stepping on a bar of wet soap, and her heels went up and she set down on her sitter and slid almost all the way to the pond.

We got some wood over by the track where the men had been splitting up some old railroad ties and made a fire for Mealy to dry herself out at, and she leaned over and put her hands on her knees and kept the wet end of her as near to the fire as she could stand it, and the Lost Rag of Tripe had a stick he had got while we were gathering wood, and I could see him keep looking at Mealy about a hundred times, and finely he could not stand it any longer and he hailed off and paisted her with the stick so hard that she straightened up and at the same time Spider grabbed him and they both rolled down the dam into the pond. We were having a lot of fun, but it was time to go to school then. School spoils lots of things.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

One day, just as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring, as he often did, he saw, near the back cellar door, a red apple lying on the ground.

"Oh ho!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, lifting his tall silk hat over one ear so he could see better. "One of my forty dozen little bunny boys or girls must have dropped that apple on their way to school. They will miss it at recess, so I'll take it to the Lady Mouse Teacher. It will be a good excuse to go to Hollow Stump School and see if everything is all right."

Uncle Wiggily was very fond of the Lady Mouse School Teacher. And Miss Mouse liked to have Uncle Wiggily visit her school. It made the animal boys and girls a little happier, she thought.

So, with the red apple in his pocket, Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on, and soon he was at the Hollow Stump School. From within he could hear the animal boys and girls reciting:

"To times two are four. Two times five are eleven!"

"That doesn't sound exactly right," thought the bunny gentleman, counting on his paw nails. "When I went to school two times five were nine or ten. I've forgotten which. I had better go in and see about this. At the same time I will give the red apple to whoever dropped it. They'll want to eat it at recess."

The Lady Mouse Teacher smiled when Uncle Wiggily hopped in.

"You may stop your number work now, my dears," she said to the children. "We have a visitor who will speak to us."

"Ahem!" coughed Uncle Wiggily solemn like, as he stepped to the edge of the teacher's platform. "As I was coming along—" Now he intended to speak about how much were two times five but as he put his paw in his pocket he felt of the red apple and that reminded him about it so he pulled the fruit out and put it on the desk.

"Oh, there's the apple I lost!" suddenly exclaimed Buster, one of the little boy bunnies. He spoke aloud in school before he thought, so he suddenly clapped his paw over his lips, but then it was too late—the words had been spilled. However the lady Mouse Teacher only smiled and said:

"You may have your apple afterward, Buster. Now every one sit up straight for Uncle Wiggily is going to tell us a story."

"First of all," said the rabbit gentleman, who was still thinking about how many were two times five, or five times two, whichever way you look at it, "first of all, my dear children—"

And then, all of a sudden, in through the door which Uncle Wiggily had forgotten to close tightly after him, in through the door came the Bob Cat. This Bad Chap, with his ridiculously inadequate appendage, which means his silly little tail, this Bob Cat snarled, saying:

"First of all I'm going to nibble some ears!" and he looked straight at Uncle Wiggily's. The animal children didn't know what to do. The rabbit gentleman himself could thing of nothing but twinkling his pink nose, but what good did that do I ask you. And Ill answer—nothing!

But the Lady Mouse Teacher was brave. She stepped forward and said:

"Mr. Bob Cat this is the hour when we do arithmetic, or number work, in our school. You can't have any ears unless you can do an example. Now if I have one apple and give you one apple how many apples are left. Quick! Answer me!"

Now the Bob Cat was a stupid chap. He hardly knew enough to read, much less how to do number work. So he stammered and stuttered and said:

"If you have one apple and you give me one apple—er—ah—um—Why that's two apples!" he snarled.

"Wrong!" cried the Lady Mouse Teacher. "Go home and study some more! Out you go!" She picked up the apple Uncle Wiggily had brought in and threw it at the Bob Cat. Now the apple was frozen as hard as a lump of ice from having been out in the cold. And when the frozen apple hit that Bob Cat on the nose it brought tears to his eyes.

"Oh yow! Oh yow!" he yelled. "Don't bang me again! I'll be good; I'll go home! I'll study my lessons!

One apple! Two apples! Oh, I feel as if I'd been hit by a bushel of apples! Oh, yow!" And out of the school he ran. The apple wasn't good to eat, being frozen, so Custer gave his brother Buster half of the apple he had brought and everybody was happy but the Bob Cat. He didn't deserve to be. So if the looking glass doesn't hide behind the sofa to make funny faces at the gas store, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the first leaf.

Civilization progresses through the efforts of a few men with the brains of genius. The rest of us follow on; and are we ever thankful enough?

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle, containing directions. —Adv.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, at the office of said Board in Marion, Ohio, until Twelve (12) o'clock noon, Central Standard Time, which is one (1) o'clock P. M., Eastern or local time, on Thursday, March 31, 1927, for the purchase of thirty-six (36) bonds of said Marion County, numbered from one (1) to thirty-six (36), both numbers inclusive, aggregating in amount the sum of Twenty-two Thousand, Nine Hundred, Forty-two ($22,942.00) Dollars, to be known as "East River-Darlington Road Improvement Bonds." All of said bonds shall be dated as of the sixteenth (16) day of December, 1926, and shall be of denominations and shall mature as follows, to-wit:

One bond for One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars and one for Two Hundred Fifty ($250.00) Dollars to be due on the first day of March and September of each of the years from and including March, 1928, up to and including September, 1935, and one bond for One Thousand $1,000.00) Dollars and one for Four Hundred, Forty-two ($442.00) Dollars to be due on the first day of March, 1936, and one for One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars and one for Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars to be due on the first day of September, 1936.

Each of said bonds to bear interest at the rate of five (5%) per cent per annum from the date thereof, payable semi-annually on the first day of March and September of each year during the life of the bond. The proper interest coupons are to be attached to each bond, and the principal and interest thereon shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer of Marion County, in the City of Marion, Ohio.

The above described bonds are being issued and sold for the purpose of providing funds for the payment of property owners' portion of the cost and expense of construction of East River-Darlington Road Improvement in Richland Township, Marion County, Ohio, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments made against benefited real estate and in pursuance of a resolution adopted by the said Board of Commissioners on the 16th day of December, 1926, and amendatory resolution adopted by the said Board on March 3rd, 1927, and under authority of the general laws of Ohio, particularly Section 6929 of the General Code of Ohio, and this advertisement is made in accordance with the provisions of Section 2291 of the General Code of Ohio.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank, payable to the Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, for the benefit of said County, in the sum of Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars. All checks of unsuccessful bidders are to be returned following the opening of bids and award of bonds to the successful bidder or bidders. The deposit of the successful bidder or bidders shall be retained and shall be considered and accepted as part payment on the bond or bonds so awarded. Should the successful bidder or bidders refuse or neglect to pay for the bonds sold on the terms stipulated, the deposit of such bidder or bidders shall be forfeited to the aforesaid Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, as compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds, and as liquidated damages for the republishing and readvertising of same.

No bids shall be considered unless accompanied by a certified check as above stated, and no bid shall be considered which is for less than par and accrued interest to date of delivery, and the Board of Commissioners reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

The bonds shall be delivered to the purchasers, on the 20th day of April, 1927, as soon thereafter as they can be prepared and a transcript furnished showing the proceedings of the Commissioners relating thereto.

The bonds are to be paid for upon delivery, with accrued interest, if any, at the office of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

Proposals shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Bonds" and shall be addressed to the Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, dated March 3, 1927.

T. A. O'LEARY,
Clerk of Board.

MARKET PRICES LOWER IN DULL SESSION TODAY

Buying Support Withdrawn from Leaders; Bearish Professionals Encouraged

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks irregular; industrial; stocks reactionary; domestic bonds strong; foreign bonds, steady; call money 4 per cent; grain, steady; copper, firm; oil, weak; cotton, steady; rubber, steady; sugar, steady; pig iron, firm; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Mar. 8—All classes and grades of speculative stocks settled down to a lower range of prices in a dull and featureless session today.

Bearish professionals were encouraged in their market "campaigns" by the apparent withdrawal of buying support from the market leaders. This was due to a number of causes, among them the $117,000,000 increase in speculative borrowing in February; the comparatively unfavorable earnings reports of prominent corporations for 1926, as compared with 1925; and the reported withdrawal of a number of spectacular traders from the bullish side of the market.

If the bullish pools and professionals are about to wind up their operations in their favorite stocks, it will be logical to look for liberal offerings of the stocks on the market and a consequent decline in prices. Distributing-time for the pool stocks is the harvest time for the bears, who are on the alert for opportunities to sell the stocks they can but at lower prices at a later period.

After an early recession, the oil stocks staged a good rally, under the leader of Housten. This stock raced up to 120 on reports that the final report for 1926 would show earnings of $20 a share. The company has largely expanded its business in natural gas, and current earnings are the best in the history of the company, according to the market rumors. Pure Oil, Skelly and Marland were fairly steady, but Standard of New York and New Jersey sold at the lowest prices of the year.

Moderate rallies in the better grade of dividend industrial and railroad stocks were recorded as the result of occasional short covering and investment buying.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Staple and fancy fruits are not as strong on local markets as they have been. Stocks of oranges and grapefruits, while still made up of choice supplies, are not being carried as large as during the last few months. Apples are not moving fast now, and the supply is not large. Very few shipped apples are being offered. Lemons are strong in both supply and demand, and choice fruit is being offered in local stores.

Fresh vegetables continue to be high in quality and plentiful. There are large supplies of cauliflower, head lettuce, spinach, beans, onions and cabbage. There is a small supply of asparagus, khippol, to be had, and the price is high. Endive and celery are plentiful and move fast.

Supplies of old potatoes are being placed on the market rapidly now, with the coming of the first of the new shipments. Old potatoes are being offered at sharp reductions from the price that has held all winter.

Prices on various products are as follows:

New potatoes, 50c measure.

HARNESS OILING WEEK IS OPENED AT PLEASANT

Work Is Conducted by Agricultural Department at Farm Service

The second harness oiling service for farmers of the various communities in the county was getting started at Pleasant School today. Five sets of double harness and one single buggy harness were brought to the school up till noon today, and had been oiled and were ready to be returned to the owners.

V. B. Dean, instructor at Pleasant School and leader in the Young Men's Farming Club, which sponsors the harness oiling work, said today he expected around 75 sets of harness to be brought in before the end of the week.

Two weeks ago at Green Camp harness oiling week was offered farmers and 120 sets of harness were oiled. A nominal charge is made for the work.

The work at Pleasant School is in charge of Joseph Segner, member of the Junior Men's Farming Club. A large room is used where a set of harness is oiled each day and each set of harness is given two coats.

EXCESS FAT IS NOT SO COMMON

Not nearly so common as it was! One great reason is Marmola Prescription Tablets. It reduces fat by correcting the gland cause, without abnormal exercise or diet. It is the modern, scientific way. Marmola has been used for 19 years. The results are seen in every circle. And the use has grown to very large proportions, because the way is so easy, so pleasant, so helpful, so efficient. You will be surprised and delighted.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains a pamphlet to explain the reasons for results. Go get it now.

EXPECT TEDDY ABBEY TO BE INDICTED BY JURY

Evidence in Narcotic Selling Charge Presented to Federal Grand Jurors

Cleveland, Mar. 8—Teddy Abbey, alleged "underworld" character and dope peddler, of Canton, will probably be indicted by the present federal grand jury on a charge of selling narcotics, it was indicated today.

Abbey and three other Canton men are under bond, pending disposition of the charges. Howell Leavis, assistant U. S. district attorney, presented evidence against the group to the grand jury late yesterday.

John "Jiggs" Wise, chief of police of Canton, and six other Canton policemen also testified.

Abbey is alleged to have been a ring leader in the dope ring which was assailed in an editorial series last summer by Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News.

If it is true a man can't make friendships after 40, it may be because he doesn't value friendship highly enough.

WAR SCENES RECOGNIZED BY MARION VETERANS

Picture at Grand Theater Recalls Stirring Days of World Conflict

The western front of the Allied armies, as it looked to the official cameramen of the United States Army during 1917 and 1918 flashed before the eyes of hundreds of Marion citizens who packed the Grand Theater last night to see the official war film "America Under Fire," which was shown there under the auspices of the Marion Chapter of Rainbow Women of Ohio.

The scenes were made more vivid by the picturesque description of the action by Corp. Bob Ingleston, who filmed the scenes. Ingleston was an official army photographer, and was with the United States troops when they went into action in the various sectors. Bursting shells, vicious attacks and counter attacks and even the sight of men fighting and dying under the very lens of the cameras taking the pictures gave evidence that the photographers risked their lives in taking the films.

Hectic scenes of leaving America, arriving in France and back of the fighting lines covered thoroughly the story of American participation in the war. Ingleston accompanied the showing of the pictures with a rapid fire, graphic account of how each picture was taken. Several times throughout the picture former soldiers recognized scenes and faces and shouts went up from the members of the audience as memories were stirred by the picture to recall former days.

Before the picture started Capt. John W. Mason, of Company D, O. N. G., read a poem, "The Unknown Soldier," voicing the spirit of those who gave their lives in the war. "But if I were alive and my country called, I'd do it all over again."

BANDIT QUEEN SENTENCED TO WOMAN'S REFORMATORY

Toledo, Mar. 8—Vivian Ingram, 25, self-confessed bandit queen, was sentenced by Judge Ritchie. Her two companions in a series of holdups, Thomas Tredinnich and Theodore Moninee, were sentenced to indefinite terms in Mansfield Reformatory.

NURSE LEARNS FROM THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE

When an experienced nurse comes out openly and says that Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic is the best remedy for treating stomach, kidney and liver troubles, even those who are not acquainted with the action of medicine on the human system would do well to take such advise.

Miss Katherine O'Rourke, 722 Chestnut St., Erie, Penna., who is a nurse of long experience says: "I am out to say that Tepee Herb Tonic is the best medicine on earth for treating stomach, kidney and liver troubles. I say this after having given it a thorough trial.

"When I started to take Tepee Herb Tonic I was badly under nourished and under weight. My health was not up to the standard. Every little change in the weather or exposure gave me a cold and then I would have a hacking cough and chills. I hadn't felt real well for three years. I had a pain in my chest that annoyed me very much.

"I took Tepee Herb Tonic according to directions and when I had finished my first bottle the pain in my chest had disappeared and my cough was much better.

"I continued to take it and continued to get stronger until now I have a good appetite and feel fine. I am gaining in weight. I want to personally thank Tepee Herb Tonic for relieving me and I will always praise it."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Bradley's, Henney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's, Lower's Pharmacy, and all drug stores; Richwood, H. D. Kyle, and all well stocked drug stores everywhere.—Adv.
